'Bunk' says Colson of Dean's desire for facts

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former White House Special Counsel Charles W. Colson said Friday John Dean's claim that he wanted all the facts in the Watergate affair to come out was "just plain bunk."

Colson, a Nixon aide for more than three years, strongly defended the President's innocence and said Dean was trying to save himself from prosecution.

"He's still bargaining for immunity," Colson told a Chicago Sun Times' columnist during the taping of a television show for broadcast Sunday night.

Colson said in late March he urged President Nixon to appoint a new Watergate investigator to supersede Dean. He said when Dean learned of the proposal, he stated, "That would never work. If we appoint a new counsel that man has to work under me."

The former aide praised Dean for being "spectacularly skillful" before the Seante Watergate Committee, but said Dean "impeached himself."

Colson said that by presenting "exhibit 39" to the committee, Dean admitted he had in fact conducted an investigation into the Watergate affair. The exhibit contained the report, Colson said, of Dean's investigation in June, July and August of 1972 although it wasn't written until this year.

Dean has denied undertaking such an investigation.

Religious, political freedom asked

Helsinki security parley concludes

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — The European Security Conference Friday ended four days of talks on the future organization of peace on the continent with a Western appeal for assured political liberties and a call from the Vatican for religious freedom.

A conference of representatives from the 35 participating nations will neet in Geneva on Sep. 18 to draft concrete agreements on a set of principles on future East-West relations, on more economic and technological cooperation and, above all, on a freer flow of ideas and information across the old Iron Curtain line.

The Soviet Union made it clear it is in a hurry for agreed declarations of intent. Western ministers opposing a firm timetable said they want to pin the Communists down to firm commitments that should not allow for subsequent differing interpretations.

An 11th hour call for a "Europe where all states, all peoples and all individuals can live without fear" came from Netherland's Foreign Minister Max van der Stoel, one of the last of the 35 speakers at the conference.

Reflecting the views agreed by the Western allies, Stoel said that in drafting the projected accords "we shall of course have to make quite sure that we mean the same things when using the same words."

In a thinly veiled reference to the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, the Dutch minister demanded that a new system of European security should give any nation the right to change its politics without interference in any form by any other state.

"Rather than to try to freeze existing patterns, we should open the possibilities for change, for adjustment in relationships and systems," he urged.

"I have no illusions," he told newsmen later. "Certainly, it is not possible to stop a determined superpower. But we should have language that would show how much importance we attach to the prevention of the use of force or the reapplication of the Brezhnev Doctrine."

Weather

Considerable low cloudiness overnight through Sunday but sunny during afternoon hours with slightly cooler days. Chance of local morning drizzle. High temperatures today in the low 80s.

Illegal contribution admitted by airline

Nixon's lawyer put on pressure, says official

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Under pressure from President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, American Airlines made an illegal $75,000 cash contribution to Nixon's reelection campaign from November, 1971, to March, 1972, the airline acknowledged Friday.

"I was solicited by Mr. Herbert Kalmbach, who said that we were among those from whom $100,000 was expected," George A. Spater, American's board chairman, said in a joint but separate announcement with special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Spater said he knew Kalmbach at that time not only was Nixon's lawyer but represented United Air Lines, American's major competitor. "I concluded that a substantial response was called for," Spater said.

The airline executive, calling for stronger campaign financing laws, said that under existing law, "a large part of the money raised from the business community for political purposes is given in fear of what would happen if it were not given."

The Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President denied it had authorized "anyone to solicit or knowingly accept contributions from corporations." It dismissed as "absurd" any charge that it had used extortion to gain contributions to the Nixon campaign.

American's contribution was made in five installments that were completed shortly before the new campaign contribution disclosure law went into effect April 7, 1972. It has been reported that Nixon's fund raisers collected $1.7 million before the disclosure deadline.

Under present law, corporations are barred from making political contributions to federal candidates in their own name. Spater said American contributed $55,000 to the Committee for the Re-election of the President "from corporate sources" and another $20,000 from what he termed "noncorporate sources."

The law allows individual members of corporations to contribute to political campaigns, but the $20,000 which industry sources said came from major stockholders in American was not reported by the Nixon campaign committee.

While American was making its contribution to the GOP, it was still trying to collect $809,000 from the Democratic Party in unpaid bills left over from the 1968 campaign.

Cox said the airline acknowledged its illegal contribution voluntarily and had agreed to cooperate fully with his office. Cox expressed hope that other corporations would follow suit. "Whether they come forward or not, we intend to get to the bottom of illegal funding practices," he said.

Spater said he spoke out "to mitigate any resulting charges or penalties against the officials involved, and also to focus attention on the evils of the present political fund raising system."

According to Spater, the pressure applied on American was typical of what industries face in election years. "Based on my knowledge and experience in the business community, I believe that such pressures have been regularly applied by campaign solicitors," he said.

Three other major airlines — Trans World, United and Pan American —reported they made no contributions to the GOP.

Employment up in June—so are wholesale prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In bittersweet news of an economy roaring into overdrive, the government reported Friday that wholesale prices scored record increases in June, but that unemployment dropped below 5 per cent of the labor force for the first time in three years.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices shot up 2.4 per cent last month, the biggest gain since January, 1951, while farm prices alone advanced 7 per cent, the most since the present series of records was begun in 1947.

This pushed wholesale farm prices to a level 47 per cent above a year earlier, an all-time high for a 12-month period. Overall wholesale prices were up 15.1 per cent above a year ago, but they have risen at an annual rate of 23.4 per cent in the past three months.

BLS officials cautioned that the June wholesale figures were gathered before June 13, when President Nixon imposed the current price freeze, which will not show up until the July wholesale price index is released next month.

Some of last month's wholesale price increase already had been passed on to consumers in the form of steeper retail prices by the time Nixon ordered the freeze.

While the wholesale report was bad news for consumers, the BLS had good news on jobs. Unemployment fell from 5 per cent to 4.8 per cent last month, slipping below 5 per cent for the first time since June, 1970.

The jobless figure, which stood at only 3.3 per cent when President Nixon took office in 1969, soared to 6 per cent in 1971 and hovered around that level for 19 months before starting to decline a year ago. Nixon has set 4.5 per cent unemployment as an interim target to be achieved before the end of the year.

While the number of jobless workers dropped last month from 4.38 million to 4.26 million, the BLS said the number of workers holding jobs rose by 650,000 to 84.67 million.

Grains, animal feeds and oilseeds accounted for most of the huge jump in farm prices last month. Prices for hay, hayseeds and oilseeds shot up 23.4 per cent and manufactured animal feeds rose by 22 per cent.

Egg prices went up 16.3 per cent, but livestock prices rose only 2.7 per cent and poultry prices only 2.3 per cent in June. Fruit and vegetable prices increased 6.2 per cent.

Wholesale prices for consumer-ready food went up 2.2 per cent in June while wholesale prices for other consumer goods increased 1.7 per cent, the biggest gain in nearly 23 years.

Industrial commodity prices, considered by many economists as a more reliable indicator of inflation than scasonally fluctuating farm prices, rose by 0.9 per cent in June, the smallest advance in five months but still more than twice the rate during Nixon's first four years in office.

Taken together, the two reports provided further evidence of a rapidly expanding economy threatening a new round of inflation. The administration already has acted to meet this threat largely by reducing the supply of money available for corporate expansion and consumer credit.

Bombing may continue after August deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger Friday expressed pessimism over the Cambodia government's chances of survival if there is no cease-fire before the U.S. bombing in that country stops next month.

Schlesinger said it was "quite possible" President Nixon might ask Congress for authority to resume the air strikes if, in the absence of a cease-fire, the military situation in Cambodia deteriorated after the congressionally mandated Aug. 15 bombing cutoff.

"We hope to see a sufficient improvement of the governcent and its armed forces in the next five to six weeks so that conditions can be stabilized in that country," he said. "That is the basis for a cease-fire agreement."

But Schlesinger said looking at the history of the last two and a half years, "certainly one has reason to express misgivings whether such an improvement would take place."

Meantime, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said Congress was "deceived" if the White House claims it gave no assurances it would not escalate the bombing of Cambodia when it was seeking congressional agreement to a delayed bombing cutoff date.

He said such assurances were given Congress through presidential adviser Melvin Laird during debate that led to the passage of compromise legislation ending U.S. military activity throughout Inchochina by mid-August.

Schlesinger, in his first Pentagon news conference, also:

—Said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has been suffering from a "sense of psychological inferiority" that has caused overestimations of Warsaw Pact capabilities (the Communist bloc's equipvalent of NATO) and underestimation of Western capabilities.

—The four armed forces of the United States must learn to cooperate better and to end the costly tendency of each service trying to develop all the abilities needed to make it independent of the others.

—The United States will make no troop withdrawals from Europe in the next year or two unless there are mutual reductions by the Soviet Union, and any reductions will be carefully planned to maintain the security of Europe.

Postal committee slates hearings on West Coast service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Post Office subcommittee will take its hearings into poor mail service in the West Coast next month, it was announced Friday.

Rep. Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., subcommittee chairman, said his panel would hold hearings and visit postal facilities during the month-long August recess in Colorado, California and Hawaii.

"Because of a deluge of complaints on postal service received by our subcommittee," he said, "we have decided to investigate the problem areas first hand."

But more out of work, too

Number of Californians on the job is all-time record

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Total employment in California in June was nearly 8.7 million, breaking all previous records, the State Department of Human Resources Development announced Friday. Unemployment for the same period was 5.2 per cent, compared to 4.9 per cent in May, the department said.

"Every major industry in California has been adding workers to its payrolls in recent months," said Dwight Geduldig, Human Resources disrector.

"Every month since February we have seen increases across the board. In April, a previous all time high record was equaled. In May, a new record was set. Now, for June, another new record has been set," Geduldig said.

The 8,697,700 total for June was 129,100 higher than the May figure, Geduldig said, and an increase of 260,200 over June of last year.

The number of job seekers also increased in June, Geduldig said, because of heavy increases in job applications by June graduates and youths seeking summer work.

Unemployment rose by 80,000 between May and June to 503,000, he said.

"This year, the increase in summer job seekers was about 19,000 greater than expected, so the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate rose from 4.9 per cent in May to 5.2 per cent in June," Geduldig said.

"Compared with June of last year, however, the number of unemployed is down 69,000 and the rate is well below last June' rate of 6 per cent," he added.

In the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area, employment in June reached 1.4 billion, an increase of 8,400 over May.

Angry ex-con shoots three, kills himself

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A 46-year-old ex-convict, angered over a workman's compensation settlement, shot and killed two insurance adjusters and critically wounded a secretary Friday before killing himself with a blast to his right temple.

The secretary, Virginia Sullivan, underwent immediate surgery and was listed in critical condition.

On her desk at the downtown office of Employes Mutual Liability Insurance Co. were the claim file and settlement order of the gunman, Samuel Smith of Sacramento.

Police said Smith was awarded a $3,000 settlement for an undisclosed injury suffered as a laborer. The insurance company was under court order to pay that amount, authorities said, over a stipulated period of time.

The shooting occurred when Smith demanded all the money at once, police said.

"He wanted the money right now," said police spokesman Don Folley. "The company was under court order, however, to pay over a period of time."

Killed were Merle Brown, 47, of Roseville, a senior adjuster for the firm, and Lawrence Anderson, 29, of Davis, also an adjuster. Both were shot in the head.

Detectives said Mrs. Sullivan was not able to talk to authorities. She was shot once in the chest with the bullet lodging near her spine.

Smith's body was found in a corner of the office. He had a pocket full of .38 caliber bullets and a .38 caliber revolver was found nearby.

Authorities said Smith was arrested by the FBI in San Francisco in 1959 for bank robbery. He was convicted and served less than three years of a term of not more than 20 years.

Nixon summons China envoy on Cambodia peace

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon Friday welcomed the latest proposal for peace in Cambodia and called in China's chief envoy to discuss ways Peking can help end the lingering war in Southeast Asia.

Huang Chen, who was flown to the Western White House aboard a presidential jet and given red carpet treatment, held a two-hour meeting with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and then met with Nixon.

"You can assume Cambodia was discussed," Kissinger told newsmen in a brief, doorstep news conference.

The meeting was held in preparation for a trip by Kissinger next month to Peking. During that trip, he is expected to confer with ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk about ways of ending the war in Cambodia, the most troublesome part of the Indochina conflict.

Kissinger, reflecting the President's views, said a six-point peace plan announced earlier Friday by the Cambodian government was a welcome sign of diplomatic movement. But he would not comment on the specifics of the plan.

"We have always favored negotiations between the parties," he said.

Under a congressional mandate from Congress to end all U.S. military activity in Cambodia by Aug. 15, Nixon apparently has accelerated diplomatic moves to reach an accord before the deadline.

Kissinger declined to say specifically whether he would meet with Sihanouk during the Peking trip, but he shrugged off a statement by the ousted Cambodian head of state that he would refuse such a meeting.

"That is almost inconceiveable to me," he said. "I don't want to comment about the negotiations that are now going on and we will just have to wait for what develops in the next month."

In a departure from earlier policies, U.S. officials now see Sihanouk as an important factor in any Cambodian peace plan and appear confident he will change his mind about the meeting.

Low-pollution jet engines by 1979 ordered by EPA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency Friday ordered the nation's airplane manufacturers to start making airplane engines by 1979 that will not pollute the air as much as present ones do.

It also proposed that engines made prior to 1979 be refitted in future years with devices to clean them up as well.

All jet engines which deliver more than 8,000 pounds of thrust made after Jan. 1, 1979, will have to be designed to reduce carbon monoxide by 60 per cent, hydrocarbons by 70 per cent and nitrogen oxides by 50 per cent. This category covers engines such as those used on the Boeing 707, 727, 737, 747 and the DC8 and DC9.

Jet engines delivering less than 8,000 pounds of thrust made after the same date will have to show 80 per cent reductions of hydrocarbons, 60 per cent for carbon monoxide and 20 per cent for nitrogen oxides. Planes using engines in this class include the Lockheed Jetstar, Lockheed Electra, Fairchild F27 and the Convair 540.

Piston engines also would have to meet reduction standards, and all engines would require further emission reductions in 1981.

In proposing to require retrofitting of engines made before 1979, acting EPA Deputy Administrator John R. Quarles Jr. said the target goals match work going on in the Air Force and the space agency.

"And some of this research is being carried on through contracts with two of the major manufacturers of gas turbine engines, General Electric and Pratt and Whitney," he added. "These manufacturers demonstration testing . . . so we believe this will facilitate retro-fitting of controls on existing engines.

The proposal would require the retrofitting to be completed by Jan. 1, 1983.

The agency also said it had reached an agreement with the Federal Aviation Administration and the Air Transport Association to conduct test programs at two airports on how to reduce exhaust pollution while aircraft are still on the ground.

The tests, which will be conducted at Los Angeles International and Washington National Airports, will involve such things as operating with reduced numbers of engines on the ground in various taxiing and waiting situations.

THESE ARE ENEMIES? — Dr. Michael DeBakey, famed Houston heart surgeon, was among the 200 persons listed on the White House "enemies" list revealed by John W. Dean III at Senate Watergate hearings. Dr. DeBakey, left, who conversed with President Nixon Friday at San Clemente, has expressed mystification at his inclusion on the list.

'Impeach Nixon' proposal blocked at NAACP session

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A parliamentary move Friday stymied a resolution calling for Congress to begin impeachment proceedings against President Nixon because of the Watergate scandal.

The resolution, submitted by the Rev. Wycliff Jangdharrie, former chairman of the NAACP's Philadelphia Metropolitan Council, failed to reach the floor of the convention when it did not meet a committee deadline.

"The information I have is that it was not received in time," said NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins. "All resolutions to be considered must be presented to the resolution committee by a certain deadline. I understand that was the technical reason for disqualifying it."

Wilkens had called the resolution "crazy" and "divisive" and not in the best interests of the NAACP.

However, Wilkins strongly criticized Nixon's policies toward blacks and praised reolutions condemning the president's order to impound housing funds.

The convention of 2,500 delegates from across the nation ended Friday with the Freedom Awards Banquet. It was the NAACP's 64th annual gathering.

Wilkins, in a news conference to review the week-long session at the Indiana Convention-Exposition Center, said he considered "benign neglect" too kind a term to apply to Nixon's policy toward blacks.

"The fact is that the Nixon administration has ignored the problems of black people," Wilkins said.

Mrs. Myrlie B. Evers, widow of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers, told a news conference that blacks had lost so much ground under Nixon "I think we are in the position of having to start almost from the very beginning again."

She was the main speaker for the freedoms award banquet.

Mrs. Evers, who now lives in Claremont, Calif., where she moved a year after her husband was shot as he made a "walk for freedom" in Mississippi, said blacks had been hurt by Nixon's specific policies as well as his general treatment.

CHP commissioner neutral on airport security duty

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

ANAHEIM — The California Highway Patrol is "neutral" on a proposal its officers take over security duties at commercial airports.

"But we have made it real clear that we would assume the responsibility if it ws given to us by the state legislature," said Walter Pudinski, CHP commissioner.

Pudinski met with newspaper reporters Friday at the Disneyland Hotel here to outline the patrol's program and goals.

A state senator introduced a bill because of so many different security techniques being used at all the airports, he explained.

The senator felt one agency should be responsible to unify the security efforts being made so travelers wouldn't have to learn different rules and regulations employed at the different airports.

"The sheriff's assocation has gone against assuming this responsibility since there was no money involved," he noted. "The senator put the bill in, asking the highway patrol to do the job."

There is some question concerning the legality of requiring an "add-on" tax to pay for the security costs, he reported. The bill is now "in some kind of review committee" and isn't expected to be acted upon this session.

Should the bill be passed, there would be a different branch of the highway patrol to assume the duties, said Pudinski. "And we are ready to assume it if given the job.

"What we think this will do is unify techniques and procedures so citizens do not face different sets of rules and regulations every time they go into different counties or cities.

"For that reason we would say we welcome this particular task," said the commissioner.

He estimated from 1,300 to 1,400 more officers would be needed for this program. "And that figure may be high."

In a review of his department, Pudinski reported he has 5,000 officers and a $141 million annual budget. "We have one officer on duty for every 14,000 cars on the road."

He also noted there are fewer licensed drivers in the state than there are registered vehicles.

The cost to operate the patrol averages $11 for each vehicle registered. "We have no other source of revenue (other than vehicle registration). We do not receive any funds from arrests or citations. The money received for traffic accident reports sold goes to the state general fund.

"We don't have to justify the reason we take enforcement actions. This is not a revenue-raising organization."

Pudinski also outlined the highway patrol's participation in a joint program with city and county law enforcement agencies to attack auto thefts.

Auto theft is the second highest crime in the U.S. involving property, and more vehicles are stolen in California than any other part of the nation, he added.

Under the program, the highway patrol will serve as an extension to city and county police agency investigations.

In some cases, vehicles may be stolen from one area and transported to another before disposed. The highway patrol could serve to carry the investigation into other counties he explained.

Officers will train local agencies in the "fine arts" of recovering vehicle numbers and will work with Department of Motor Vehicle personnel in inspecting salvage yards for stolen vehicles.

They will also check different modes of transportation to prevent stolen vehicles being transported from the state.

The commission also reported a new program is being started in Fresno to train persons how to ride motorcycles.

Clinics will last six to eight hours, with traffic officers serving as instructors. "This is an effort to concentrate where we know traffic accidents are," he explained. The program was suggested by traffic officers.

4 state area air cleanup plans offered

By ROBERT B. GUNNISON

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency Friday proposed seasonal gas rationing and a limit on registration of motorbikes as part of its program to clean up the air in San Francisco, San Diego, Sacramento and the San Joaquin Valley by 1977.

The EPA proposals call for cutbacks in the number of miles traveled by cars by 84 cent in Sacramento and 16-23 per cent in different parts of the San Joaquin Valley.

The EPA rated San Francisco, Sacramento, San Diego and Los Angeles—whose proposals were unveiled last month—as having four of the worst automobile pollution problems in the nation.

Paul De Falco, the EPA regional administrator, said the gas rationing proposal applied only for the peak car use months of May through October.

Specific proposals call for car pools, a 20 per cent cut in public off street parking, a limit on motorbike registration and a ban on the operation of two-stroke engines.

Navy gives black top command

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Friday named Rear Adm. Samuel L. Gravely, its only black admiral, to command a cruiser-destroyer group containing 31 ships and 8,300 men.

It was the first time a black officer had advanced to this level of command in the Navy.

A Navy spokesman said Gravely, 50, would take command of Cruiser-Destroyer Group Two in Charleston, S.C., this month.

Gravely, a former railway postal clerk from Virginia, was nominated two years ago for promotion to the rank of rear admiral. At the time of his promotion, he was in command of a guided missile frigate steaming home from Vietnam.

In his new command Gravely will be in charge of seven frigates, 14 destroyers, seven ocean escorts, one guided missile destroyer, one guided missile ocean escort, and one destroyer tender.

Gravely joined the Navy Reserve in 1944 after becoming the first black graduate of the midshipman school at Columbia University. He served the latter part of World War II as executive officer of a submarine chaser, and then was released from duty and became a railway postal clerk at Richmond, Va., his home town.

The Navy recalled Gravely to active duty in 1949 for the Korean War. He has remained in uniform ever since, transferring in 1955 from the reserves to the regular Navy.

Nuns arrested after White House protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four nuns of the Sisters of Notre Dame order were arrested inside the White House Friday when they broke away from a tour group to kneel, pray and sing in protest to the U. S. bombing in Cambodia.

The nuns, wearing casual clothing, were turned over to metropolitan police and charged with unlawful entry.

Two of the four—Sr. Beverly Bell, 46, and Sr. Katherine T. Coor, 31, — gave Baltimore, Md., addresses. The others, listing no address, were Sr. Christopher Lamb, 35 and Sr. Judith LaFemina, who also gave no age.

The four sisters slipped past the ropes in the tour line inside the White House at 10:45 a. m., and knelt in prayer in the vicinity of the State Room, Secret Service officials said.

They were asked to leave by members of the Executive Protection Service, but refused.

A statement released by supporters of the nuns said they had been fasting since June 25, when President Nixon vetoed a bill containing a ban on Cambodia bombing.

"We are fasting today and praying in the White House as a form of civil disobedience," the nuns said.

Meanwhile, two employes of a Washington anti-poverty community kitchen were found guilty in U. S. District Court of damaging property in the White House during a blood-spattering protest last April 28.

Declining birth rate still plaguing Soviet

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's birth rate, already low despite frequent campaigns urging larger families, is continuing to drop. And for every four couples who marry, there is a fifth couple getting a divorce.

Figures published this week by the Central Statistical Board reflect a problem that has dogged the Soviet Union since World War II.

The latest figures, covering 1971, showed a national population of 246,293,000 and 4,371,549 births—or 13.6 births per 1,000 population, far below the world average and below the 1970 Soviet rate of 17 per 1,000.

Experts cite several reasons for the low birth rate—a relatively high divorce rate, a disinclination of men to marry young, free abortions, easy availability of contraceptive devices and cramped living quarters.

On divorce and living space, the 1971 statistics were not encouraging.

Statistics showed 644,848 divorces and 2,459,947 marriages.

The statistical board also reported that 2,256,000 apartments were built in 1971, with a total of 1.1 billion square feet of space. This means an average of only 512.3 square feet per apartment in new housing.

Remap hearings concluded; decision due by August 31

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three special masters ended a week of open reapportionment hearings Friday by listening to the views of several state legislators.

The masters, all retired judges, must make their recommendations to the California Supreme Court by Aug. 31. The high court will decide on the final reapportionment of the state's Assembly, Senate and congressional districts.

The state legislature passed a reapportionment bill but it was vetoed last week by Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan. Therefore, reapportionment on the basis of the 1970 census falls into the lap of the state's highest court.

Republican Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael told the masters he opposed the legislative redistricting. He said he was not appearing as a political partisan, however, since he had already announced he would not run for the Assembly

He cited examples of both Republican and Democratic attempts "to unnecessarily cut up local jurisdictions for partisan advantage."

"The Democratic party being in control, there are more examples of the latter than the former," he added.

Bagley said the city of La Mesa was split into four Assembly districts; the 59th district includes pieces of 11 cities; the 49th includes pieces of eight cities and three county areas, and the 47th and 54th Assembly districts unnecessarily split six cities.

To convene on Thursday afternoons

MSAC board changes time for meetings

WALNUT — Trustees of Mt. San Antonio College broke a 28-year tradition Friday and decided to switch their meeting time from Friday mornings to Thursday afternoons.

The decision came reluctantly. Board president William B. Temple said he "still felt strongly that unless there is an impelling reason, we should meet when the personnel is available to us."

The "impelling reason" turned out to be a resolution by the MSAC student body senate which urged the board to reset its meeting at a time more convenient than Friday morning when most of the classes are in session.

The resolution was supported by Trustee Richard Todd, who said that "I personally think we should change the time" to accommodate the students and the faculty who wanted to attend. He said if the new time was not workable, the meeting could be moved back to its present setting.

The students presented a survey showing that MSAC trustees were the only ones meeting in the morning. Those at Pasadena, Fullerton, Chaffey and Rio Hondo met at night; trustees at Citrus met in the late afternoon.

The board voted unanimously to hold its monthly meeting at 3 p.m. Thursdays instead of 10 a.m. Fridays. The meetings are generally set for the third week of the month.

WILLIAM B. TEMPLE

Temple to head board at MSAC

WALNUT — William B. Temple, 68, of Covina, a retired citrus executive, was elected to a third 1-year term Friday as president of the Mt. San Antonio College board of trustees.

Re-elected as vice president of the board was Lance Smith, a La Puente attorney. Named as secretary was Robert Hickson, Pomona attorney, who succeeded Robert Hutchison of Covina.

Hickson was nominated by Hutchison who said he felt a trustee from Pomona should be one of the officers of the board. He and Hickson were re-elected to new four-year terms last April.

The re-election of Temple was a virtual formality. The policy and operational procedures which the board approved subsequent to the election had already showed him as president for the coming year.

Temple has just completed 10 years as a member of the MSAC Board of Trustees.

4.8 per cent pay raise accepted by city workers

UPLAND — Negotiators for the city and the Upland City Employes' Association have reached an agreement on a 4.8 per cent pay raise for all city employes except police.

At is recent regular meeting the City Council accepted and agreed to implement a six-point memorandum of understanding.

In addition to the percentage increase, the city agreed to modify present salaries to bring them into line with a 12-city average, complete a new classification study by Nov. 1 if possible, change retirement programs to incude widows' and orphans' one-half continuance provisions effective Jan. 1, reduce firemen's work week to approximately 59 hours and add one more holdiay to holdiay benefits, and develop an educational incentive program for firemen to begin in January with general service personnel beginning next July.

The council is expected to formally ratify the agreement next week, possibly at Monday's adjourned meeting in which the continuing negotiations with police personnel will be discussed.

OFFICER COMMENDED

Casey Plooy commended

CHP officer's action saves life of girl, 14

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

DIAMOND BAR — For Casey Plooy, being a California highway patrolman is much more than writing traffic citations and investigating traffic accidents.

It's also being able to assist persons needing help.

Plooy, assigned to the Claremont office, recently was commended for his quick action in preventing a Diamond Bar girl from bleeding to death last May.

Paulette Marie Wunderlich, 14, of 109 N. Pintado St., was running up her front porch when she tumbled on a step and went through a glass door.

Suffering deep cuts on her right arm, she ran to her neighbors for help since the parents were away. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baird placed her on the back seat of their car and began driving toward the Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Enroute, they spotted Plooy who was on patrol duty.

"I was driving south on Diamond Bar Boulevard when I first saw the car approaching," Plooy recalled. "It appeared at first the couple was engaged in a family squabble because of the car's movement.

"The driver, however, jumped from the car waving his hands to get my attention. "He then told me he had a seriously injured girl and asked to escort his car to the hospital."

Plooy applied direct pressure on the injured girl's arm to stop the flow of blood, then carried her to his patrol car.

"I could tell the girl was in deep shock," he recalled. "I had the woman ride with me and hold pressure against the wound."

Plooy told the husband he was going to the Pomona hospital and instructed him to drive at a safe speed. "Just leave the worrying to me," he said.

Enroute, Plooy notified the patrol's dispatcher and asked that the hospital have medical personnel standing by.

"When we arrived, several nurses and a doctor were waiting at the emergency room," he said.

Hospital officials later reported the girl had lost a great deal of blood and would have died if she had not received immediate treatment.

Paulette, who suffered damage to the nerves and artery in her upper arm, remained at the hospital for five days.

"I visited her later and she was getting some feeling back in her hand," said Plooy.

The officer was on patrol duty in Diamond Bar several days after the incident when Paulette's mother stopped him to thank him.

"It's incidents like this when we can offer real service to the public that makes it all worthwhile," said Plooy.

Paulette is recovering from the cuts, but is still under a doctor's care, said Mrs. Robert Wunderlich, the mother.

She wrote a letter to Plooy's commander praising his quick action. "He is wonderful, and an angel from heaven," she remarked.

Plooy, who joined the patrol three years ago, graduated from Ganesha High School and attended both Mt. San Antonio and Chaffey colleges. He and his wife, Deidra, reside in Upland.

Sailing classes to be conducted

LA VERNE — The parks and recreation department will conduct private sailing instruction for adults beginning next week.

Lessons will be held on Puddingstone Lake. The fee is $15 for 12 lessons twice a week, each 90 minutes long.

Instruction includes basic sailing terms, parts of a boat, wind conditions, uses of sails, rigging a boat, tacking, point to point sailing, getting the most out of available wind, and a final harbor sailing solo on Long Beach Harbor.

Registration and appointments are now being accepted at the recreation department, telephone 593-4571.

La Verne man, 21, charged

$10,000 bail for kidnap suspect

POMONA — Joseph Michael Andrews, 21, has been charged with kidnapping, rape and burglary in the abduction June 30 of a retarded girl from a convalescent home here.

Andrews, 2615 I St., La Verne, was arraigned in Pomona Municipal Court where bail was set at $10,000 and the defendant's preliminary hearing was set for next week.

Andrews, a employe of a camper manufacturer, also was charged with marijuana possession. Detectives said he possessed a few grains of marijuana when arrested several hours after the abduction.

The defendant, a former employe of Glenhaven Convalescent Home, 1041 S. White Ave., was charged with removing the 55-pound, severely-retarded child from the building in a laundry cart and attacking her. She was found later in a fenced area of the grounds where trash is placed for collection. Investigators said that tests performed since the incident indicated the victim, who cannot speak, walk or crawl, had been raped.

Video tape to be used in trial for medical malpractice suit

LOS ANGELES — Video taped testimony will be used during the trial of a medical malpractice suit involving Glendora Community Hospital here.

When a mistrial delayed the beginning of the trial, the parties and their lawyers faced the necessity of continuing the trial for weeks or even a couple of months. The reason was that Dr. Martin Goldfarb, scheduled as a defense expert witness, was going to be away on an extended trip.

Asst. Presiding Judge Robert A. Wenke suggested that if all parties could agree to prepare a video taped deposition, sworn statements by the doctor with both sides participating could be admitted in the trial.

The result was a three-hour video tape which will be shown jurors when Dr. Goldfarb would have taken the witness stand had he been available.

Presiding Judge Alfred J. McCourtney said that he and others of the 161 judges of the Superior Court have been interested in using video taped testimony properly during trials.

"This case presents an opportunity to use this process advantageously and the parties to the action and the lawyers have cooperated in a test of what may become a valuable judicial tool," McCourtney said.

The case is scheduled for trial in the court of Judge John A. Loomis.

Man, 22, injured in fracas

POMONA — A 22-year-old man was injured Friday in a fracas which occurrred when a group of Negro men apparently tried to crash a party given by whites at 1325 Murietta Ave., police reported.

Michael J. Trotter, who is white, was reported in satisfactory condition Friday afternoon at Pomona Valley Community Hospital where he was being treated for facial injuries which included a broken nose.

Police had to dispatch several units to the location shortly before 1 a.m. after receiving reports of a disturbance. Arriving officers siad they found 15 to 20 persons milling around, scuffling. Several were drunk, the officers said.

Trotter was found lying in a hallway of the apartment building. Chains, belts and a pitchfork reportedly were used in the melee. There were no arrests.

Driver in manslaughter death gets 100 days of charity work

POMONA — Robert William Cox, 18-year-old Walnut resident who pleaded no contest last month in the traffic death of a 5-year-old girl here, has been ordered to perform 100 days at Casa Colina Hospital. Cox must report to the court Oct. 1 with proof of his service there.

The young man pleaded no contest June 13 to a charge of misdemeanor manslaughter in the death of Rebecca Lopez, 420 Lombard St. She was one of two children struck by his sports car as they were crossing the street in a crosswalk near Kellogg Elementary School May 14. Rebecca died a few minutes after arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The other girl, Jacqueline Alvarran, 7, 2527 Aston St., survived cuts, bruises and a head injury.

Police said Cox went through a red traffic signal at the crosswalk and struck the two little girls as they were being escorted by a women crossing guard displaying a red stop sign.

Sacred Heart Church planning a fiesta

POMONA — Sacred Heart Catholic Church will sponsor its annual fiesta July 13, 14 and 15 featuring a variety of entertainment for the entire family.

A fiesta queen will be crowned July 13 and a group of dancers including El Mariachi "Los Tapatios," the Latin Folk Dancers from Gardena, Swedish Dancers and the Balet Folklorico of Sacred Heart will entertain.

Diamond-hunting opportunity offered

POMONA — Area residents will have the rare opportunity to go diamond hunting during the next two weeks.

The rare gems can be found mixed with imitations in a large goldfish bowl in the showroom of the Chrysler-Plymouth agency on E. Holt Avenue.

All a person has to do is reach into the bowl, make a selection, and then take it to Adams Jewlers or a jeweler of his choice for inspection. If the choice is the real thing, it belongs to the contestant with no strings attached.

Contestants must be 21 or older to participate.

Claremont employes get bonus checks

CLAREMONT — Ninety-eight of the city's 130 employes received bonus pay checks this week but not because of a council-approved raise. The city had received a refund of $26,989.75 from the State Compensation Fund. The employes' share was half that amount.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney said that a state fund representative told him that the 65 per cent dividend of the paid-in premium for the 1971-72 fiscal year represented the largest percentage return to a contracting city in his memory.

The City Council, meanwhile, has approved Mulrooney's recommendation that future employe refunds be reduced by a formula which would provide an adequate "kitty" for a safety award program, yet would protect the city in years to come when extraordinary premium refunds occur.

Mulrooney said that the savings to the city could be used to pay any increased premium costs and could provide stricter and more comprehensive medical and physical fitness screening.

The council resolution introduced and redefined a category for "emergency" accidents and "unavoidable exposure" accidents. It provided that employes who themselves are not injured but contribute to the injury of another employe through negligence may not participate in the award program.

The resolution also provides for an appeal procedure for city employes. The changes become effective in the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Mulrooney said that the dividend was caused primarily by luck, because for the first time in five years the city had no expensive back or heart claims resulting in disability retirements.

Mulrooney reported that the dividend would not directly affect the premium reflected in the 1973-74 city budget.

The favorable experience will be reflected in future years' premium rates, he said.

Mulrooney noted that the 1972-73 fiscal year may be another bonus year for city employes because of no lost-time accidents.

Mulrooney's recommendations were the result of a study by a task force of Fire Chief Robert A. Lee, chairman; Bob Brinegar, Tom Taylor, Danny Valenzuela, Jim Linenberger, Len Stone, city safety officer, and Danny Campos.

Mulrooney said that a seven-year study showed that the city's safety record, measured in terms of frequency of accidents, has improved since the start of the safety program.

In 1965-66, 28 claims were reported for every 100 employes, while for 1972-73 Mulrooney estimated 19 claims for every 100 employes.

Mulrooney stressed that the safety program as presently funded is not cost-effective because $8 out of every $9 spent for workmen's compensation goes for heart and back claims — claims that, in general, are not subject to normal safety improvement masures on the job.

Mulrooney estimated that the gross premium for the 1973-74 policy year will reach $60,000, three times the gross premium for 1965-66.

Mulrooney noted that during seven years studied, the city incurred losses totaling $190,147, and that 11 claims by 10 employes accounted for 92 per cent. Eight employes were retired.

Administrative Asst. James Linenberger, a member of the safety committee, said that the safety award program was designed to reduce city safety costs, and to reduce accidents.

"In my judgment," Linenberger said, "the program has worked moderately to increase safety consciousness and to reduce accidents."

As to the high-costing back and heart claims, Linenberger reported that all city department heads involved in field operations support more rigid physical examinations.

Linenberger concluded that the city's dollar for employe health and safety is not going as far as "it can and should."

The safety award program does not direct workmen's compensation expenses to maximize cost-effectiveness," Linenberger said.

He said that pre and post-employment medical exams generally meet the city's need, but should be modified to screen out potential heart and back risks.

It was ironic that the 1969-70 fiscal year was the worst in the study, with $91,961 incurred in losses in 24 claims out of 125 employes. Premiums paid that year were $36,454.

Mulrooney had recommended that under the new safety award program the employes would receive half of the city's refund up to $5,000; $2,500 plus one-fourth of a refund over $5,000 when the city's refund reached between $5,000 and $10,000; and $3,750 plus one-eighth of the city's refund over $10,000.

The 1971-72 safety award distribution was as follows: 16 police sworn personnel, $279 each, minus deductions; 15 fire department employes, $210 each; 15 parks division employes, $115 each; 21 public works employes, $101 each; and 31 members of the engineering, planning, recreation, and administrative groups, $64 each.

Each of the latter received a department award of $50 each for no lost-time accidents, and an individual award of $14 each.

Under the new program, only those employes certified by the employes safety committee and approved by their department head are eligible for a safety award.

The last group of fire department applicants underwent the Aerobics physical fitness test last month at El Roble Intermediate School when they had to complete six laps or 1.5 miles in 12 minutes, so the city is taking a new approach to the fitness of its new employes.

The next group of police department applicants also will have to pass the Aerobics test, and will undergo more comprehensive physical exams.

Nixon freeing of Mafia figure from prison under probe

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — U.S. Attorney Herbert J. Stern's office is coordinating an FBI investigation into the commutation by President Nixon of the prison term of Angelo "Gyp" DeCarlo, a reputed New Jersey Mafia figure freed after serving 21 months of a 12-year sentence.

Stern revealed the investigation Thursday following a sharply worded criticism by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who said "something smells."

Jackson, chairman of the Senate's permanent investigations subcommittee, said his staff plans to question former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and John W. Dean III, former presidential counsel, about DeCarlo's parole from the Atlanta penitentiary last December.

Stern said his office, "in close and continuous contact with special prosecutor (Archibald) Cox's office, has been coordinating an FBI investigation into allegations concerning this matter for several months." Cox is special prosecutor in the Watergate case.

At the time Nixon commuted DeCarlo's sentence, there were reports DeCarlo had terminal cancer. But Howard J. Feldman, chief counsel to Jackson's subcommittee, said, "We have word that he resumed his activities."

DeCarlo was convicted of loansharking extortion in federal court in Newark in February, 1970.

His alleged victim was Louis B. Saperstein, a former insurance broker, whose death of arsenic poisoning came Nov. 26, 1968, one day after he told the FBI of being severely beaten at DeCarlo's headquarters.

Jackson is also seeking information about another prisoner, Anthony L. DiLorenzo, who was given the right to leave prison unescorted and vanished late last year during a purported visit to his dentist. He was then serving a 10-year term for transporting stolen securities.

"It is ironic that at the same time the Justice Department makes claims of a nationwide crackdown on organized crime and launches difficult and costly trials to convict mobsters such as DeCarlo and DiLorenzo, the process of justice is frustrated by the ability of these men to elude the full weight of the penalties imposed on them."

DeCarlo was involved in the underworld's use of stolen and unaccounted securities as collateral for loans and mortgages or other cash-raised manipulations, Jackson said. The senator estimated $30 billion worth of securities are used in such frauds, which his subcommittee is investigating.

In a letter to Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson, Jackson asked for the Justice Department's records on DeCarlo's commutation and DiLorenzo's escape.

"Information received by this subcommittee raises serious and disturbing questions as to the reasons and manner in which Angelo DeCarlo was released from federal custody," Jackson said.

Responding to Jackson's allegations, Richardson said that a personal review of DeCarlo's release "has shown that normal procedures were not bypassed."

De-barking pups proposal draws congressman's fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force wants to buy 200 beagle puppies with their vocal cords tied off and then make them breathe environmental pollutants.

But Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. says there are "litterally thousands of dog lovers like myself who won't stand quietly by while it happens."

Aspin initially indicated the dogs were wanted for poison gas experiments, because the proposed contract for the dogs referred to "toxology research." The Air Force denied that, saying "what they meanby 'toxology' is environmental pollutants."

However, an Air Force spokesman said Thursday he could not explain the exact purpose of the experiments. "It is reasonable to assume the pollutants will be those produced by airplanes," he said.

Aspin wants to know why the dogs must be "de-barked."

The Air Force spokesman said, "Normally, when you are working with a large number of animals in a laboratory, the noise pollution is fantastic unless you do something to stop it. That's why we specify their vocal cords must be tied off."

He said this would be done in accordance with "protocols" of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The Air Force said the experiments would take until August, 1975 and would be performed by University of California researchers at the Aerospace Medical Research Laboratory at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Aspin indicated the Air Force is undertaking the program for the National Aeronautical and Space Administration (NASA) and the program also would involve experiments on the effects of acceleration.

Probe for irregularities under way

Equalization chief considers Nixon estate underassessed

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The chairman of the California state board of equalization said Thursday all indications are that President Nixon's San Clemente estate is "indeed underassessed" and that an investigation is being conducted into possible irregularities in the appraisal.

"From all that I know, the Nixon property, which was purchased for $1.5 million in 1969, is indeed underassessed," Board Chairman William Bennett, told the Santa Ana Register.

"My office will continue to look into this. The county assessor's office should look at the assessment again."

Bennett was replying to a statement by former Orange County assessor Andrew Hinshaw Thursday that the Register was lying when it reported Nixon's 24.6 acre Western White House had been undertaxed by $25,000 to $55,000.

Hinshaw, now a GOP congressman, defended his $1 million valuation of the ocean-front estate, which is now appraised at only $1.37 million, by saying no public record of the higher purchase price had ever existed.

Hinshaw also said more than $700,000 in federally funded improvements on the Nixon property were not taxable because they were for security purposes and belong to the U..S government.

Bennett, however, criticized both points.

"Tax stamps for the documents filed with the Orange County recorders office when the purchase took place in 1969 clearly indicated a $1.5 million deal and that's where it should have been appraised at then," Bennett said.

He also said the improvements were taxable because they "enhance the value of the property. Besides, is the government going to tear out block walls, fences and landscaping when Mr. Nixon is no longer President?"

Bennett has run for office in the past as a Democrat, but the post he now holds is a nonpartisan position.

Calling the allegations contained in the Register story "outright lies" Hinshaw told a news conference that the Western White House did not receive a tax break and may actually have been assigned a higher assessed value than it should have.

"Probably, on the presidential property, we accelerated our six-year reappraisal program (from 1966-72) simply because we felt with that highly sensitive property we ought to be at the same, if not above, the assessment level then prevailing in southern Orange County."

Hinshaw maintained that San Clemente city records show permits for the improvements totaling only $90,000, but that the assessed value would not have changed if he had been aware of the extent of the federal improvements.

"We would not have changed our valuation one iota if we had known about the $700,000 expended on the property," he said. "Many of these assets have no value to persons generally, and will be removed by the Secret Service when Mr. Nixon is no longer President."

Sex films seized, 8 jailed in N.Y. raid

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police seized more than three-quarters of a million dollars in hard-core sex films and arrested eight men in the largest porno raid in the country since the Supreme Court's new ruling on obscenity.

The police raid took place at Arrow Films Inc., said to have links with organized crime and to be the largest processor of pornographic films in the New York area.

State Supreme Court Justice George Roberts, who came to the scene to view the movies, said they had "no redeeming social value." Police confiscated thousands of the x-rated films and charged eight men with wholesale promotion of pornography. They said the raid would put a "substantial dent" in the supply of films to sex theaters in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut as well as Boston and Atlanta.

Police officials said the operation was the first in New York City and the largest in the country since the Supreme Court ruled several weeks ago to allow cities and states to set their own individual guidelines on what is and what is not obscene under the law

Four-hundred master 8 mm reels—which sell for $1500 each were seized during the raid on the firm, also known as AAA Color Lab. Police also said they found 7,500 prints—selling for $25 apiece—bringing the value of the haul to $787,500.

Sgt. Joseph Horman of the Police Public Morals Division said the firm had been under investigation for three months and the raid was not spurred by the high court decision. He said there were "strong indications" that the operation had been infiltrated by organized crime "over a year ago."

He said organized crime apparently took a "commission of 25 cents on each reel" processed into the sophisticated operation.

Among those arrested was Paul Rotherberg, 42, who was described by police as the "principal" of the operation.

Horman said the company had developing copying, editing and reeling facilities. It processed films 16 hours a day, using two eight-hour shifts, he said.

Pentagon Papers tell Pearson role in LBJ messages to Hanoi

TORONTO (UPI) — The Toronto Globe and Mail Fri- said the Pentagon Papers show former Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson told President Johnson in 1964 that he would understand if the United States bombed North Vietnam.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story, said previously unpublished portions of the papers show that Pearson gave Johnson the assurance during a meeting in New York nine months before the United States began bombing North Vietnam and three weeks before Blair Seaborn, Canada's delegate to the International Control Commission, made his first visit to Hanoi bearing messages from Washington.

Pearson died last December at the age of 75.

The newspaper said the portions of the Pentagon Papers it had obtained described in detail Canada-U.S. cooperation in preparing Seaborn's trips to Hanoi and the extent to which the Canadian government became an instrument of President Johnson's "carrot-and-stick" policy of diplomatic overtures and military escalation.

The Globe and Mail said one state department cable reads in part: "President told Pearson that he wishes Hanoi to know, that while he is a man of peace, he does not intend to permit the North Vietnamese to take over Southeast Asia....

"In outlining the U.S. position there was some discussions of 'carrots and sticks.' Pearson, after expressing willingness to lend Canadian good offices to this endeavor, indicated some concern about this (sic) nature of the 'sticks'.

"He stipulated that he would have great reservations about the use of nuclear weapons but indicated that the punitive striking of discriminate targets by careful bomb attack would be 'a different thing.'

"He said he would personally understand our resort to such measures if the messages transmitted through the Canadian channel failed to produce any alleviation of North Vietnamese aggression, and that Canada would transmit messages around this framework."

The Pentagon Papers, a confidential, in-depth study of the history of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, were published in part in 1971 by the New York Times and other newspapers.

The Globe and Mail said so-called diplomatic sections of the papers, which described the involvement of other countries, remained unpublished under a U.S. court injunction. The paper said it obtained portions relating to Canada's role this week.

Included, the newspaper said, was the state department cable of May 30, 1964, describing the Pearson-Johnson meeting two days earlier.

It said the cable was signed by Acting Secretary of State George Ball and sent to Henry Cabot Lodge, then U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

Big cheer for super defense

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand from one of the side games at the Spring Nationals that was set at one table as the result of a careless play by declarer and super-brilliant defense by West.

We believe the play by declarer, but rather think West came up with the defense some time after the score had been marked down.

	NORTH 7 ♠7 ♥KQ8754 ♦QJ962 ♣J
WEST (D) ♠J943 ♥AJ ♦AK1087 ♣64		EAST ♠8 ♥10963 ♦543 ♣KQ987
	SOUTH ♠AKQ10652 ♥2 ♦Void ♣A10532

North - South vulnerable

West	North	East	South
1♦	1♥	Pass	4♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦K

South ruffed the diamond lead with his deuce of trumps; cashed the ace of clubs; ruffed a club in dummy; led dummy's queen of diamonds and discarded his singleton heart.

West was in with the ace of diamonds and could find no better lead than his ace of hearts. South ruffed and started to run his high trumps. Most Wests hung onto their jack of trumps; were thrown in with it and forced to lead a red card to allow South to discard three club losers on hearts and diamonds.

One West is supposed to have played his jack and nine of trumps on South's ace and king. This made it impossible for South to throw him in and eventually East set the contract with three club tricks.

Where did the careless play by South come in? Right at trick one? He could have ruffed the diamond with his five of spades. After that play it would not have done West any good to jettison his highest spades. He would still have been thrown in with the three-spot which is one pip higher than the deuce.

A need:

Consumer complaint machinery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Chairman Lewis A. Engman believes the government must develop some mechanism to handle the most common consumer complaints — about products that don't work, fall apart, aren't delivered on time and so forth.

"The simple fact is that for vast and increasing numbers of consumers with valid complaints there is nothing to be done—after two hours of haranguing the salesman, the supervisor, the department chief, the customer service girl and the store manager—other than to drive 15 miles back home, kick the dog, yell at his children and curse his wife," Engman said.

"What is the consumer's recourse when he finds himself stuck with a $10 toaster which burns his bread to a crisp, and the store manager tells him his warranty is invalid? What is the consumer's recourse when he continues to be billed for goods he never bought, and all the computer will do is add on monthly interest charges and spew out letters threatening a law suit?" Engman asked.

The answer he said, should be some mechanism that is effective, prompt, simple, accessible, legal and cheap. Those standards, he said, may not all be attainable, "but they do define a goal toward which I believe we should be striving."

"In fact, they define a goal toward which I believe we must strive," he added. "For to the extent the consumer has been vulnerable, he is today actively and successfully offsetting that vulnerability.

"The consumer movement is no passing phenomenon: It has already achieved a number of its purposes and it will continue to achieve even more in the times ahead," he said. "I would not be surprised if, in not too many years, the notion of 'caveat emptor' will have passed from the American scene. The concept of the wary buyer should be replaced by that of the responsible—and responsive—seller."

Engman made the comments in an address prepared for a meeting of the International Association of Insurance Counsel (cq) in Toronto, a copy of which was released by the FTC in Washington.

Church hits girl scout book on sex

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A Catholic representative from a girl scout district says that a proposed scout program for young women "emphasizes everything that is abnormal in sex," including abortion and birth control.

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia has threatened to withdraw its support from the Philadelphia Council of Girl Scouts because the council is considering a program called "To Be a Woman."

"This 'To Be a Woman' program has not emphasized good wholesome family living," Mary Jean Hart, head of the Catholics' Religious Committee of Girl Scouting said Thursday.

"It has emphasized everything abnormal in sex—abortion, birth control, rape—and everything that would frighten a girl—menopause, hysterectomies, masectomies," she said.

The program would be offered to girl scouts, with parental approval, on a voluntary basis. It teaches the history of women along with sexual development, pregnancy and birth control.

Of the city's 28,000 girl scouts, about 9,000 of them are Catholic.

WINDOW WATCHERS

Chris Evert (L) and Billie Jean King inspect the weather through a window as they wait for the rain to stop at Wimbledon Friday. Both face each other in the ladies' singles finals today.

Kodes battles Metreveli for men's crown

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Billie Jean King of Hilton Head, S.C., has one unfulfilled tennis ambition — other than winding up a millionaire. She wants to be the first five-time winner of the women's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships since the war.

She figured, and the bookmakers agreed with her, that she would have notched that mark in the record books by today. But rain washed out the entire Wimbledon program Friday so Billie Jean will go out on Centre Court 1:30 p.m., weather willing, to pass the last obstacle to her goal.

Facing her in the postponed final is 18-year-old Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who has an ambition of her own beyond the $7,500 winner's share. She wants to be the youngest titleholder since Maureen Connelly in 1952. The women's final will have to share the spotlight with the first men's final in Wimbledon history between players from Communist countries. Second-seeded Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia is a 7-5 favorite to beat fourth-seeded Alex Metreveli of Russia. Neither player will collect the $12,500 first prize or the $7,500 runner-up award.

The money will go to their national tennis associations.

The women's postponement drew a mighty groan from the few thousand fans still in Centre Court—some of whom had lined up 30 hours for standing room—because there are no rain checks at Wimbledon. And Referee Mike Gibson had to include Sunday in his planning because Mrs. King has a possible five matches and Kodes a possible four matches to play after their singles efforts.

The men's doubles championship, originally scheduled for Friday, will also be played today. Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., and Ilie Nastase of Romania, the fourth seeds, meet John Cooper and the veteran Neale Fraser of Australia, the second seeds.

Referee Gibson explained that he ordered Sunday play because Mrs. King, the top seed, has a women's doubles semifinals, partnered by Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, and—if she wins—the finals

Dodger draught finally ends, 3-2

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Don Sutton let go a big sigh of relief.

After being struck by lightning in the ninth inning in two of his last three starts, Sutton had reason to be uneasy in the ninth inning when Pittsburgh had the go-ahead run up at the plate in shortstop Rennie Stennett.

It looked like it might be the same old story in the ninth when the Pirates scored two runs in the top of the inning to cut the Dodger lead to 3-2.

Stennett hit a liner back to Sutton. It bounced off his glove but shorstop Bill Russell was able to field the ball in time and throw Stennett out as Sutton jumped with joy.

It was a strong performance for the right-hander, who broke the Dodgers' six-game losing streak by recording his tenth victory of the season.

Sutton stopped the hard-hitting Pirates on four hits until the ninth in taking command of the game.

Al Oliver opened the Pirate ninth with a single to center, but Sutton struck out powerful Willie Stargell and Rich Hebner to come within one batter of a shutout.

Catcher Manny Sanguillen ended all thought of a blanking by ripping a double to right field to score Oliver. Dave Cash followed with a single to right to bring Sanguillen home and create some anxious moments for the 28,011 customers.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers were able to snap their scoreless inning string by tallying single runs in the third, sixth, and seventh frames off of Pittsburgh starter Luke Walker.

Willie Davis doubled to center in the third to score Bill Buckner, who was hit by a pitch.

Ron Cey who looked like a gazelle than a penguin, surprised everyone by stealing second after drawing a walk to open the sixth. Two outs later, Willie Crawford singled to left to score Cey with the second run.

The Dodgers used their speed again for the final run in the seventh. With one out, Dave Lopes singled, stole second for his 24th of the season, and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Bill Buckner singled to bring him home.

Sutton was relieved by his good performance.

"It's been a long time coming for us," Sutton said while relaxing in the Dodger clubhouse. "When I was warming up in the bullpen I could tell I had good stuff."

The last time Sutton faced the Pirates at Dodger Stadium he was a 5-4 loser on a night when the Pirates belted five home runs.

DODGER NOTES. . . Jim Rooker (2-2), another left hander, will go or the Pirates against Andy Messersmith (7-6) in this evening's 7 p.m. game. Dock Ellis (7-8) faces Tommy John (8-4) in Sunday's series finale at 2 p.m.. . . The sportswriters will make their annual charge at the sportscasters in this evening's preliminary at 5:45 p.m. with the winning team meeting the Hollywood Stars on August 11. . . The Dodgers passed the one million mark in home attendance to become the first team in baseball to go over that magic figure.

Angels tripped in eleven

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Charlie Spikes lined a single off the leftfield fence with one out in the 11th inning to score Buddy Bell from third base with the winning run Friday night, giving the Cleveland Indians an 8-7 victory over the California Angels.

Bell opened the 11th against reliever Steve Barber with a single. Walt Williams bunted and Bell was safe at second on the fielder's choice as Williams reached first. George Hendrick moved both runners up with a sacrifice and John Ellis was given an intentional pass to fill the bases. Spikes followed with a line smash off the leftfield fence.

The Angels, held to only two hits by starter Dick Tidrow over the first eight innings, collected seven singles and scored six runs in the ninth inning to tie the score at 7-7.

Singles by Al Gallagher, Frank Robinson, Mike Epstein and Vada Pinson chased Tidrow. Jerry Johnson came in to strike out Bob Oliver and Ken Berry, but pinch-hitter Winston Llenas singled home a run and John Stephenson followed with another run-scoring single. Bill Grabarkewitz ran for Stephenson and both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Pinch-hitter Leroy Stanton then singled home the tying runs.

California starter Clyde Wright, who had given up only three earned runs in his last 43 2-3 innings, was tagged for a trio of runs in the third on a run-scoring single by Hendrick, Ellis' sacrifice fly and a run-scoring triple by Spikes.

The Indians chased Wright with three more runs in the fourth when Chris Chambliss led off with a triple and scored on a squeeze bunt by Tom Ragland. Bell doubled home Ragland and scored on Hendrick's two-out single.

Oliver accounted for the Angels' first run with his eighth homer in the seventh inning.

Stockton weathers Ziegler comeback for 2nd round Milwaukee Open lead

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Dave Stockton caught fire for a nine-under par, course record 63 Friday to take the second round lead in the Greater Milwaukee Open, then sweated it out as Larry Ziegler made a late charge to close the gap to three strokes.

Stockton, 31, who won the first GMO in 1968, trailed leader Bob Goalby by three strokes going into the second round of the $130,000 golf tournament, but his putter got hot for nine birdies and the lowest round of his 10-year career as a pro.

His 36-hole total of 132 was 12-under par on the 7,010 yard Tuckaway course. First place is worth $26,000.

Ziegler's 69 gave him sole possession of second place while Goalby checked in with a 71 for a 136. Mike Morley, who shared second after the first round, also carded a 71 to stand alone in fourth place at 137.

Homero Blancas and Hubie Green were a stroke further back at 138 as strong afternoon winds cut down on the huge number of sub-par rounds shot the first day.

Stockton's previous personal low was a 65 at the tough Colonial Open in Fort Worth, Tex., but he said the 63 here "would be just as good."

Noting he had only 27 putts in Friday's round, Stockton said it "feels good to be putting better." He recorded 30 putts on Thursday.

"I thought the course was set up tougher today, but the greens were better," said the San Bernardino, Calif., pro.

In the first round Stockton was one of the last to tee off, but Friday he was among the first and was off the course before the strong winds kicked up and hampered the afternoon golfers.

The last time he won a tournament was in Massachusetts in 1971 and his best finish this year was a third place at the Colonial and a tie for third at Greensboro. His $49,727 in winnings this year ranks 29th on the pro list.

Yarborough takes pole for Volunteer 500 race

BRISTOL, Tenn. (UPI) — Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., captured the pole position for Sunday's Volunteer 500 Friday as Chevrolet drivers dominated first-day time trials.

Paced by Yarborough's fast lap of 106.472 miles per hour, seven Chevrolet drivers were among 10 to earn positions in the 266-mile Grand National event at Bristol International Speedway.

Chevrolets driven by Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N.C., L. D. Ottinger of Newport, Tenn., and Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., grabbed the next three positions.

The remaining 20 cars for the Volunteer will be qualified Saturday. Sunday's race is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. EDT.

While the Chevrolets were dominating the action, Buddy Baker's Dodge and the Ford of Bobby Isaac failed to pass NASCAR inspection because of wheel-base infractions.

Yarborough's speed was well off the track qualifying record of 107.608 which he established earlier this year.

Parsons, last driver to take a qualifying run, turned 105.749 m.p.h. to take the outside front row position on a hot and humid day.

Defending Grand National champion Richard Petty broke the Chevrolet dominance by putting his Dodge in the No. 5 berth with a speed of 105.244. Dave Marcis of Wausau, Wis., qualified the American Motors Matador at 103.268 and will start ninth. Grabbing the 10th position in a Mercury was Walter Ballard of Houston, Tex., at 101.779.

Both Baker, of Charlotte, N.C., and Isaac of Catawba, N.C., are expected to return to the speedway Saturday to make qualifying runs.

Defending Volunteer champion Allison is in the second row with Ottinger. Ottinger's speed was 105.649 and Allison's 105.332.

Milburn takes world hurdle mark for self

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Rod Milburn of America set a world record of 13.1 seconds in the 110 meter hurdles Friday night. He was joint holder of the previous world record of :13.2 seconds.

Milburn, the Olympic gold medal winner from Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., got off to a very fast start, seemed to slow down slightly when he knocked down one hurdle, but with 40 meters to go he tore away from the rest of the field.

The crowd of 12,000 gave him a howling ovation when the time was announced.

Milburn shared the old mark with West Germany's Martin Lauer, who first set the mark on the same track in 1959, and three other Americans, Lee Calhoun, Earl McCullough and Willie Davenport.

Other American winners during the Zurich International Athletic meet were Leonard Hilton in the 1,500 meters in 3:41.2, Jim Bolding in the 400 meter hurdles in 49.5 seconds, Tom Woods in the high jump with 7 feet, 2 1-4 inches and John Powell in the discus with 200 feet, 8 1-2 inches.

POMONA PASSING ATTACK

Pomona quarterback Bob Falb hurls a pass in the first play of the First Annual Firemans Charity Football Game Friday night at Chaffey College. Pomona defeated the Ontario-Montclair Firefighters by a 12-0 margin. Falb left the game early in the first quarter.

Pomona Firemen extinguish O-M, 12-0

ALTA LOMA — In the First Annual Firemans Charity Football Game, the Pomona Firefighters slid by the Ontario-Montclair Firefighters Friday night at Chaffey College, 12-0.

Pomona used a grueling running attack and a stifling defense to win the first game of the series, that will hopefully continue into the far future.

The game started with an attempted on-side kick by Ontario-Montclair. Pomona's Kelly Pyle was ready for it though, and pounced on it.

Pomona then saw their top quarterback injured on the first play. Bob Falb attempted to pass, but it fell incomplete. The next site of Falb was on the bench with a hurt leg.

Mike Hewitt came in to replace Falb, and it turned out that he was one of the main reasons for Pomona's victory.

Hewitt completed three-of-seven for 51 yards. He also rushed for 91 yards on eight carries.

The other standout for Pomona's offense was fullback Earl Nursement. Nursement continually came up with the yardage when it was needed. On fourteen carries, he ground out 91 yards.

Pomona scored its first touchdown in the closing minutes of the first quarter. After an Ontario-Montclair punt put the ball on Pomona's 38, Pomona started the drive that proved to be all it needed.

Hewitt's first pass of the night caught the defense by surprise. The toss to Dave Spenser was good for 39 yards. Ontario-Montclair was cited for facemasking and the result was a first and goal from the three.

The first three downs saw Bob Miller, Nursement, and Hewitt all fail when they tried to run the ball over. Hewitt went back to the passing game and he connected on a three yard toss to tight end Chris Rowe.

The Pomona defense, led by Doug Boulware and Bruce Price, constantly thwarted any attempt by the O-M offense to move the ball effectively in the first half.

Pomona had another scoring opportunity in the second quarter, but a 21 yard run by Hewitt was nullified by a holding penalty.

The second half saw Ontario-Montclair come out fired up. They started their offensive drive on their own 25 yard line. With short passes and tough running, they moved all the way down to Pomona's five yard line.

Pomona rose to the occasion however and extinguished Ontario-Montclair scoring attempt by recovering a fumble.

Ontario-Montclair was paced by the strong running of Ron Mayfield who accounted for 44 yards on only four carries.

Pomona scored their final touchdown of the night in the middle of the fourth quarter. The drive started on their own 38. They continually ran the ball into Ontario-Montclair's territory eating up the ground and the time.

Key gains in the series were runs of nine and 19 by Hewitt. Nursement ran for ten and 11 yards.

Borkorsor forfeits title

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Venice Borkorsor will give up his world flyweight championship next Wednesday after fighting Mexican Julio Guerrero, World Boxing Council President Ramon Velazquez announced Friday.

Venezuelan challenges Betulio Gonzalez will fight either Miguel Canto or Alberto Morales for the championship, Velazquez added.

The WBC president met Friday with Borkorsor's manager Chana Sapkeau and Venezuelan promoter Rafito Cedeno. He said both agreed on Borkorsor's resignation.

The world champion said earlier this week he wants to move up to the bantamweight division.

THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE reacted calmly Friday to a Washington newspaper's attack on the NFL blackout policy.

The Washington paper pointed out that the NFL has barred a Baltimore TV station from carrying Redskin home games, but Jim Kensil, Executive Director of the NFL, quickly pointed out that the League's TV policy has been standard for years, and that league cities, such as Baltimore and Washington, will average 74 games.

THE QUEBEC NORDIQUES of the World Hockey Association have made a "very generous offer" to retired star center Jean Beliveau to quit his executive job with the Montreal Canadiens and join the WHA team as a player and executive, a spokesman for Beliveau said Friday.

Sports news in brief

PETE ROSE is assured of a spot in the starting National League outfield for this year's All-Star game, but there's a wild race in the balloting for the other two spots.

Rose is far ahead in the balloting for this year's midsummer classic to be played in Kansas City July 24, but Billy Williams, Cesar Cedeno, and Bobby Bonds are all within a few votes of each other.

KARL NOONAN, Miami Dolphins' wide receiver and one of the last three members of the original team, announced Friday he is retiring from pro football to devote full time to his real estate business in south Florida.

With Noonan's departure, only wide receiver Howard Twilley and tackle Norm Evans remain as original members of the 1966 National Football League expansion team.

THE PHILADELPHIA EAGLES asked for waivers Friday on veteran quarterback Pete Liske.

Liske, 31, who had been with the club since 1971, became expendable when the Eagles acquired Roman Gabriel last month from the Los Angeles Rams.

AMIE AMIZICH, playing relaxed "because I don't need the money that badly," shot a blazing seven-under-par 66 Friday to take the first round lead in the $35,000 LPGA Marc Equity Classic.

TINSLEY'S IMAGE raced the six furlongs in 1:09 2-5 Friday to win the $27,500 Cabrillo Stakes by a length and a half and establish himself as the leading contender for the upcoming $150,000 Hollywood Juvenile Championship.

UNITED STATES entries made a determined assualt on seven of Henley Royal Regatta's 12 events Friday.

American crews, in record-busting form, surged into four finals and three semi-finals.

A FEDERAL JUDGE Friday dismissed a suit filed in behalf of 12-year-old Carolyn King of Ypsilanti challenging the constitutionality of the Little League's "no girls" rule.

U.S. District Judge Ralph Freeman said he did not have jurisdiction in the case. However, he said he agreed with the argument put forward by defense attorneys that participation in contact sports could jeopardize the physical welfare of a girl.

RUDY ROSALES' record of 67 wins in one season by an apprentice, set in 1969, looks precarious after Steve Valdez' heroics at Hollywood Park on Thursday.

Valdez, the 17-year-old who first burst upon the Southland scene 13 months ago by sweeping a Daily Double at Hollypark, bagged both ends of the Double again Friday and then added two more winners before finishing his day's work.

Miller fires Montclair past Walnut

MONTCLAIR — After bombing San Bernardino, 15-2, Thursday afternoon, Montclair Post 616 batters were unable to give Randy Miller the same kind of substantial security Friday against Walnut Connie Mack, but they did give him enough for a 2-1 victory.

Miller, now 2-0 on the season, came on in the fourth inning in relief of starter Tim Price and pitched four shutout innings to make a two-run rally in the bottom of the inning stand up.

Tim Brown singled Mike Medeiros home, and Dale Biggs followed with a pinch single to send Randy Long in.

Walnut cashed in a Montclair error in the second for an unearned run when shortstop Kevin McLean dropped Steve Reinhardt's pop-up to allow Bob Salas, who had singled earlier, to score.

Montclair hosts Upland Post 73 Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. Walnut, meanwhile will see action this afternoon, traveling to Charter Oak for a 2 p.m. league game.

POLE-SITTER AT REST—Mark Donohue relaxes after setting a record qualifying speed of 124.42 MPH for Sunday's Can-Am Challenge Cup race at Flowery Branch, Ga. His first day time assures him the pole.

For Carling Can-Am

Donohue nabs pole

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Heavily favored Mark Donohue made it all look easy Friday as he took the pole position for the Carling Can-Am with a record-shattering speed of 124.42 miles per hour over the 2.5 miles Road Atlanta course.

Donohue said he was very pleased with his Sunoco Porsche as it flew around the track to clip almost four seconds off the old track mark set by Peter Revson.

Jody Scheckter took his Pollak Porsche around the course in 118.57 m.p.h. to qualify for the second spot in the two-heat race Saturday and Sunday.

Mario Andretti and George Follmer had engine trouble during the qualifying trials but still managed to win starting spots.

Andretti had to settle for 10th place and a 111.58 time when a small fire erupted in his engine. Follmer qualified for sixth position in the race despite blowing an engine in his turbocharged Porsche.

Jackie Oliver had the day's third best speed, 117.96 m.p.h. in his low-slung UOP Shadow, powered by a 1,200 horsepower turbocharged Chevrolet V-8 engine.

Hurley Haywood in a Brumos Porsche and David Hobbs in the Black Label McLaren had identical 117.50 clockings during the qualifying heats, but Haywood won the fourth spot and Hobbs the fifth.

Only 20 racers qualified for the Carling race so far, the season's second in the Can-Am tour, and a track official said the remaining drivers would try to qualify for the race Saturday morning.

National League roundup

Boccabella's blasts tie mark

John Boccabella tied a major league record with two home runs in one inning, including a grand slammer, in the opener and Ron Fairly hit a pair of homers in the second game Friday night to lead the Montreal Expos to a 12-8, 14-6 doubleheader sweep of the Houston Astros.

Bob Bailey contributed three runs to Montreal's nightcap victory as the Expos rattled Houston pitching for 29 hits in the doubleheader.

Boccabella became the 18th player in major league history to smack two homers in the same inning when he connected twice during the sixth inning of the opener as the Expos erupted for eight runs to erase a 7-4 deficit. He connected for his first with nobody on off Jim Ray and climaxed the rally with a grand slam off reliever Jim Crawford.

In other National League games, Cincinnati trounced Philadelphia 8-2 and Atlanta blanked New York 2-0.

Dave Concepcion, who delivered the game-winning hit Thursday night, foiled Philadelphia's strategy by stroking a two-run double in the sixth inning that carried Cincinnati to a victory over the Phillies.

With 58,294 fans on hand, Concepcion delivered his game-winning hit after the Phillies intentionally walked Bobby Tolan with first base open. Dan Driessen, who singled and moved up as Johnny Bench grounded out, and Tolan both scored on the two-bagger. Tolan hit a solo homer in the second and singled home Driessen with the Reds, second run in the fourth.

Ron Schueler pitched a no-hitter until the ninth inning when rookie Ron Hodges led off with a single then settled for a two-hitter as Atlanta downed the Mets.

In West Coast games St, Louis edged San Francisco 3-2, Chicago nipped Pittsburgh 3-2 and Chicago topped San Diego 8-5.

Bob Gibson matched Juan Marichal as the major league's winningest active pitcher with 233 victories as he hurled St. Louis to a triumph over the Giants and outdueled Jim Barr for the first time in their three meetings this season.

Gibson allowed seven hits, walked two and struck out eight to even his record at 8-8.

Cub ace Ferguson Jenkins pitched his 13th straight triumph over the Pirates and Rick Monday contributed six RBI's, including a grand slam homer in the fifth inning as Chicago routed the Padres.

American League roundup

Bosox trip Wilbur Wood, 5-2

Reggie Smith collected his 1,000th major league hit, scored once and batted in a run and Carlton Fisk hit his 17th homer to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 5-2 triumph Friday night over Wilbur Wood and the Chicago White Sox.

It was the fourth straight win and the sixth in the last seven games for the Red Sox. They handed Wood his seventh loss in the last eight games and his 12th of the season against 15 wins.

Smith, Carl Yastrzemski and Orlando Cepeda singled for a first inning run for the Red Sox and Smith doubled in the third to drive in Tommy Harper who had singled. Fisk's homer, his 17th, in the ninth inning wrapped up the Boston scoring.

In other American League action, New York stopped Minnesota, 5-2, Kansas City routed Detroit, 12-1, Cleveland edged California in 11, 8-7, Oakland won 5-3 after bowing 7-5 to Baltimore in the opener and Texas trimmed Milwaukee, 5-2.

Jim Ray Hart's three-run homer capped a five-run eighth inning that carried New York to victory over Minnesota.

Trailing 2-0 entering the eighth inning, Roy White doubled home a run and Bobby Murcer singled in another to tie the score at 2-2 before Hart cracked his eighth home run of the season into the left-field stands.

Jeff Burroughs and Bill Sudakis hit home runs to lead the Texas Rangers to victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Sudakis hit a solo homer in the third, his third of the season, and Burroughs' homer was a two-run shot in the fourth.

Merv Rettenmund's two-run homer sparked Baltimore to a nightcap victory after the Dick Green keyed the A's attack in the opener with four runs batted in.

In the second game, the Orioles erased a 3-2 Oakland lead in the seventh inning when Brooks Robinson doubled and Rettenmund cracked his second home run of the year. Rookie Enos Cabell followed with his first major league home run.

Green highlighted a four-run second inning of the opener with a two-run double. Green also cracked a two-run single in the sixth inning as Jim Hunter hiked his record to 13-3.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — Veteran Stan Smith was seeded No. 1 Friday for the $60,000 10th Annual U.S. Pro Tennis Championships scheduled for July 16-22 at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Smith took the top spot among the eight seeded players on the basis of past performance. He has won about $155,000 this year.

Other seeded players, in order, were Arthur Ashe, Marty Riessen, John Alexander, Cliff Richey, Dick Stockton, Roscoe Tanner and Tom Gorman.

Pomonans fare well in Fireman Olympics

POMONA — Pomona Valley firemen did well in swimming and water polo at the recent Fireman Olympics at City of Commerce.

The swim team, consisting of firemen from Pomona, Montclair and Upland, placed fourth overall while the water polo team took third place.

Rod Lasher of Montclair took first place in the 100-yard backstroke to top individual honors and a second in the 50 backstroke. Jim Pengelly of Upland was second in the 1650-yard freestyle. Third place honors went to Pengelly in the 400-yard freestyle, Ed Cutshall of Pomona in the 100-yard freestyle and the 200-yard medley relay of Lasher, Cutshall, Pengelly and Dennis Myskow.

Pomona, which had only four players with previous water polo experience, lost to Los Angeles City 5-4, and defeated San Francisco, 11-2. Ron Swearingen scored two goals for Pomona in the loss to Los Angeles while Cutschall scored four in the win over San Francisco. Lasher and Ed Neilsen added two apiece to spark the win while Lynn Clark played goalie.

Dodgers 'win' Walnut crown

WALNUT — The Walnut Dodgers have apparently won the championship of the Walnut Valley Baseball League Colt Division but manager Jim Vallandingham says it isn't official yet. There's still a suspended game and a tie contest to be resolved.

But nobody can beat out the Dodgers, who finished with 13-5 season record by blanking the Rowland Padres, 10-0 on Keith McDermott's one-hitter. Mario Zaragoza's homer paced the attack.

Basketball big in summer

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Come December, they'll be playing to the usual gymful of spectators in the area's Christmas tournaments, but right now they're lucky if the number of fans equals players on the court.

Strange as it may seem, rehearsals are being held for next year's Pomona Valley prep and college basketball seasons when baseball is going full steam and football preparations are just starting to filter into the sports pages.

The time is any midsummer evening and the place is the Mt. San Antonio College gymnasium where, removed from the pressure of regular season varsity competition, coaches can begin molding their available talent into a team.

Summer league baseketball is as important a part of a team's yearly schedule as the Upland-Montclair tournament or any league game. Used wisely and effectively, it provides the difference between fielding a poor or competitive team. Without it, a potentially good team could finish the schedule well below .500.

MSAC doesn't have the corner on the summer basketball market, Garey High recently installing a similar program, but the brainchild of Mountie coach Gene Victor is a fixture after many years and the model of a simply and efficiently run practice league.

Victor's scheduling divides the entries into five leagues, two college and three high school. The preps get Tuesday Thursday, and Friday, while colleges can count on Monday and Wednesday.

After the season ends on August 3, playoffs will be held and an overall champion determined in both divisions.

Rules for games played during the seven-week season are exactly those of the regular season, with a few changes in the interest of time. For the high school division, the clock is stopped only during the last four minutes of the final quarter.

Halftime, normally a 20-minute affair, is reduced to five, if that long, in order to get games in during the allotted hour.

Victor uses his own players to referee the games, giving them a summer job as well as a fresh perspective on things.

Bonita High coach Remi Tremblay, whose prospective Bearcats compete in the Thursday League, sees the positive effects of summer play already on his squad.

Earlier this summer the young Bonita team accomplished something rare: It won a game. Last year's team claimed only one victory — at all.

Sitting high up in the Mountie stands and sipping a fruit punch drink to ward off the still-lingering residue of a hot summer day Tremblay put Bonita's 47-41 conquest of West Covina earlier in the evening into the perspective of his overall plans.

"The value of this program can't be measured," Tremblay advised. "You just don't know how important this win was to us. We're finding out that we can win, and it's better to find out now than to wait until next March, when it's too late."

While summer league is important to the team collectively, it is vital to players individually. Tremblay pointed out a particularly impressive individual performance. "Right here, in the summer, a kid is finding out he can play varsity basketball. That's a tremendous boost."

Summer is also a time for a coach to tinker and get an idea of what the right combination might be for next year. "Scott) Johnson and (Harold) Drake were our leading rebounders last year" Tremblay explained. "But tonight I had them both playing guard. This is a really good chance to experiement."

Tremblay sees the program as so essential that he makes it mandatory for next year's aspiring lettermen. "If he doesn't play in summer, then he doesn't play in winter. My philosophy is that if a boy can't give me just two hours of his time in the summer, then he doesn't want to play too badly," he explained.

Summer league basketball is hardly an artistic success. Players often commit errors and fouls during the course of a game that would be embarrassing during the regular season. Elaborate plays that are pulled off without a hitch normally turn into hopeless confusion.

But that's what summer league is for, after all, and Tremblay thinks the sometimes loose style of play doesn't impair its value. "Sure it isn't the same level of competition we'll be facing in the winter. Teams we play will be much tougher then, but . . . so will we."

Tremblay sees Walnut, Nogales, Chaffey, Garey, Damien and Charter Oak in competition. On Tuesdays Royal Oak, Ganesha, and San Dimas are thrown into the same schedule.

Among notable teams that commute to MSAC are Bishop Amat (Tuesday) and Los Altos (Thursday.)

In the college division, MSAC, Azusa-Pacific, La Verne, and Citrus avail themselves of the facilities. Claremont-Mudd players also see summer competition.

The first game begins at 6 p.m. in all five leagues. There is no admission charge for anyone who cares to see what basketball in the Pomona Valley will look like next year.

TAKING AIM — Claremont fireman Bob Bringhurst shows his form in winning recent Fireman Olympics gold medal in archery. Bringhurst sees higher earnings in future for archers.

Athletics big help to Bradley's rise

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It's a lot longer than a quartermile from the black ghetto to the mayor's office in city hall but Tom Bradley, who used to run the 440 for UCLA, made it on his second try.

Bradley was a contemporary of the more famous black athletes at UCLA notably Jackie Robinson, who made the racial breakthrough in major league baseball, and Kenny Washington, the first black player with the Los Angeles Rams pro football team.

Yet the new Los Angeles mayor credits athletic ability with getting him a college education. He was born in Texas, the son of a sharecropper. After the family moved to Los Angeles, his mother was the principal bread-winner as a domestic worker.

Bradley, 6 feet 3 ½ inches and 200 pounds, moves with the ease of an athlete to this day. At 55, he does not do any special exercise to keep in shape because he's too busy with his job.

His athletic talent bloomed in junior high school on the track and the football field.

"The coaches recognized some talent and tried to encourage me," he recalls. "I knew the only way I could get to college was through athletics. I couldn't afford to pay my own way. With my mother's consent, I quit my paper route to concentrate on track and football."

On the Poly High football team, Bradley played tackle, end and halfback and won All-City honors. He attracted the attention of college scouts.

"The first scholarship offer I got was from UCLA and I took it because that's where I wanted to go," he said. "I'm quite sure I wouldn't have gone to college if it hadn't been for the scholarship. And I don't think I could have progressed in politics without the education.

"I lived in a community where many of the youngsters just had no hope, and they turned to many things. Some to a life of crime. Some were simply social misfits. Some with great talent had no way to use that talent and they became disillusioned, frustrated, wasted."

At UCLA, Bradley concentrated on track and was the top quarter-miler and also ran on the relay teams. His best time for the 440 was 48 seconds which was good in the late 1930s.

Fireman seeking archery glories

CLAREMONT — Will archery be the next sport attracting big money?

Claremont fireman Bob Bringhurst has easons to think so.

The Bonita High graduate recently won a gold medal in archery at the Fireman Olympics at Whittier Narrows but he can't rate that as his biggest accomplishment.

Bringhurst won a state championship in 1969 and has high hopes for a national crown when he goes to finals at Aurora, Ill. later this month.

"I feel I have better than average chance at the nationals," Bringhurst said. He has finished as high as third in previous nationals.

He is also a member of the new National Field Archery Association Pro Division, which hopes to promote the sport.

"With proper backing, there's no reason why pro archery can't approach pro golf and tennis as far as earnings are concerned," Bringhurst said. "For instance, I earned $1,000 two years ago but it couldn't meet my expenses. Last year, I eraned $2,000 so the winnings can start to pay my way."

A native of Utah, Bringhurst got interested in archery as a youngster. He took his lessons from his father, Joe, and learned how to use the bow and arrow as a hunter. But he didn't start to compete until 1967.

"Did you know that a person can shoot an arrow with more accuracy than a person can with a pistol?" Bringhurst said with great enthusiasm.

"This was the first year archery was part of the Olympics," he added. "You know, Pomona would be a perfect place to host a tournament. The buildings at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds would be ideal."

In winning the gold medal at the Fireman Olympics, Bringhurst used his Jennings compound bow to shoot a score of 555 (560 is perfect) in the field round and a score of 790 (out of 810) in the American round.

He will be competing in a $4.100 tournament on July 14-15 at Yreka before heading for the nationals.

USC's Deland heads U.S. team

LOS ANGELES — USC swimming coach Peter Daland has been named to coach the United States swim team in the World University Games to be held in August in Moscow.

Daland, who will be the head coach of both the men's and women's teams, will be joined on the team by six of his Trojan swimmers. They are National AAU Indoor 500 and 1650 freestyle champion Jack Tingley of Louisville, Ky; NCAA 200 and 400 medley champion Steve Furniss of Santa Ana; NCAA 20—freestyle champion Jim McConica of Saticoy; AAU Indoor breastroke champion Mark Chatfield of Glendale; NCAA 200 butterfly runnerup Alan Poucher of Jacksonville, Florida; and NCAA 200 backstroke runnerup Steve Cameron of La Habra. Furniss and Chatfield were on the 1972 Olympic team.

Reviews of movies

By SARAH SMILEY

"A Warm December" is a sort of black "Love Story," complete with pretty young heroine (Esther Anderson) who suffers from a fatal disease (in this case sickle cell anemia) and her solicitous, all-suffering lover (Sidney Poitier, who also directed) who knows, but refuses to let it Stand In His Way.

This kind of pseudo romantic slush is difficult to pull off even with a good script, something which "December" lacks most painfully. Instead of relying on liberal dashes of wit, style and verve to cut the taste of sick-sweet melodrama (seasoning that made the similarly inclined "Love and Pain and the Whole Damn Thing" so palatable), this film chooses to wallow in its sentimentality. Scene after scene, heavy handed and sober as a soap opera, features stilted dialogue and static situations which reveal nothing about anyone's inner character. What is revealed is how perfect everybody is: Poitier, the young doctor who gave up a successful private practice to set up ghetto free clinics (wonder how he can afford that wardrobe?), his 10-or-so-year-old daughter, angelically well adjusted and able to help an adult and near stranger face death, and Miss Anderson, brilliant and indispensable daughter of the ambassador of an emerging African nation who swirls about in some very beautiful ethnic gowns, flirts with Russian ministers at parties and gets powerplants for her country and loves Poitier too selflessly to Cause Him Grief. Such a smug, self-righteous bunch of goody-goodies simply aren't human enought to be either amusing or moving.

If Poitier's point in all this was to prove that black people, too, can do the Cary Grant-Audrey Hepburn kind of sophisticated, bittersweet comedy, complete with elegant clothes and posh sets, fine. It's just too bad that he chose such a dull lifeless vehicle with which to make his point. At the Fox, Pomona.

"The Chinese Connection" features Bruce Lee in another of that recent rash of Chinese karate flicks at Cinema II, Montclair Plaza.

IAN CARMICHAEL, British actor, will star as amateur sleuth Lord Peter Wimsey in the Masterpiece Theater television series, PBS. He will appear in "Clouds of Witness" in October and "The Unpleasantness at the Bellona Club" in December.

Strike blamed

TV season to get piecemeal start

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television's new season will probably get off to a piecemeal start this fall because of the recent four-month writers' strike, but the situation may well work out to the benefit of the public. Here's how:

Normally, the three commercial networks kick off their new seasons in a very brief period— a week or so—with the various premieres going head-to-head with their opposition shows amid lots of publicity hoopla aimed at grabbing viewers. It's an almost impossible situation for viewers, especially those who want to see the first episodes of the new series but find they have to miss the debuts of some freshman entries because of the packed schedule.

This season, however—the way things look now—the annual "premiere week" will be something less than complete in terms of offering the fall debuts because of the protracted writers' strike. In effect the situation depends on how fast the various series—especially the new ones—can gear up and get rolling for this fall. As of now, all three networks expect a number of the premieres to be offered on a "staggered" basis, as they are ready, over a period of weeks, rather than in one, jampacked, seven-day blast.

And, presuming this turns out to be the case, it can only be to the advantage of viewers because they will have more opportunities to see some debuts without missing competing premieres. This will not be the total case when the season begins because the initial fall broadcasts of some programs will still inevitably be matched against each other. But the situation nonetheless will be eased for viewers if the "staggering" plans are carried out.

Network spokesmen tend to agree that some of the new series may be affected most by the production delay. The reasoning goes like this:

Many of the returning weekly shows knew well in advance of formal announcements that they were coming back, and had stockpiled scripts as well as setting up production preparations in other essential areas. On the other hand, some of the new series had to sweat out network scheduling decisions were loathe to sink too much advance money into an uncertain future, and now have to make up for lost time.

Presuming a number of the new series get more individual debut showcasing because of their late starts, this would also work to the advantage of viewers who want to look at the freshman premieres away from the dial-switching frustrations of the usual seven-day blitz.

But while the production delay and potential staggered debuts may benefit television watchers, these after effects of the strike are giving the networks all kinds of headaches. For example, in addition to the basic fact of having to scramble to get their season together, the networks are faced with losing the big impetus they count on from all the premiere week hoopla.

One network spokesman mentions the "residual effect" of the usual hoopla, and that's a big point for the broadcasting organizations. While many series undoubtedly will be starting the season on or near schedule, the lack of the seven-day jolt could result in a public feeling that the new television year is just sort of drifting in.

That may appeal to sophisticated viewers who don't care about all the hoopla anyway, but not only is it a gloomy thought for video executives thinking about impact, it also poses accompanying problems: how can you work up a maximum-effect publicity, advertising and on-the-air promotion campaign when shows are in a state of uncertainty in regard to matters like air dates?

And then when the series finally are on the air, it will take longer than usual in the season for a network to determine what are its ratings hits and failures, and to act on its cancellation decisions. As a network spokesman says, "We usually have a pretty good indication on hits and failures by the second week in October. But not this year."

Another spokesman notes that the studios are good at making up time on production, and feels there will be enough newseason series on the networks at their originally planned time so that viewers will not think there is any kind of chaos—and he's probably right in both these thoughts. However, one thing comes through more clearly than ever as television rushes to get its new season in shape: "Premiere Week", with its usual insane competition, is really for the benefit of the networks, not viewers.

OWEN SPANN will be host on the new KTLA, Channel 5, live television program, "Help Thy Neighbor," which will have its premiere at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Two choirs schedule auditions

CLAREMONT — Auditions for two singing groups— the Claremont Male Voice Choir and the Claremont Boys Choir— will be held in the music building of the Claremont Presbyterian Church, 1111 N. Mountain Ave., from 9 to 10:30 this morning, 12:30 to 2 p.m. Sunday, and 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The Male Voice Choir is open to youths 14 to 18; the Boys Choir for grades three through six. Each candidate will be expected to sing a verse of "America" and take other tests. Boys in the younger group must be accompained by a parent or guardian.

The Boys Choir was established last year to provide young singers with vocal training, theory, stage experience and music appreciation and history. Choir camps are held each year and the boys have the opportunity to go to Europe for further training and performance. The uniformed group now numbers 60.

The Male Voice Choir is the senior arm of the younger group. Additional fields of study for the older boys are conducting and composition. They will make a trip to England next summer.

Both choirs are open to all young singers regardless of race or religion.

Both groups are directed by Christopher Trussell. Further information can be obtained from him at 626-1031.

Beverly Wolff to appear in 'Faust'

HOLLYWOOD — Beverly Wolff, leading mezzo-soprano with the New York City Opera, will sing the role of Marguerite in the Hollywood Bowl concert performance of Berlioz' "The Damnation of Faust" at 8:30 p.m. July 19.

She replaces Regine Crespin, who is ill.

A singer of wide experience with American opera companies and symphony orchestras, Miss Wolff has in the past several seaons been highly acclaimed in the major cities of Italy, singing such roles as Brangaene in "Tristan and Isolde," Delilah in "Samson and Delilah," and Sara in "Roberto Devereaux." The latter role she created and recorded with the New York City Opera opposite Beverly Sills.

She is also active on the concert stage, recently having participated in performances of the Dvorak and Verdi "Requiems" (in Italy), and Mahler's Second Symphony with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Boston and New York.

"The Damnation of Faust," with James Levine on the podium also features tenor Kenneth Riegel as Faust, Michael Devlin as Mephistopholes, Arthur Edwards as Brander, and the Los Angeles Master Chorale.

Quartet set for concert at Barnsdall

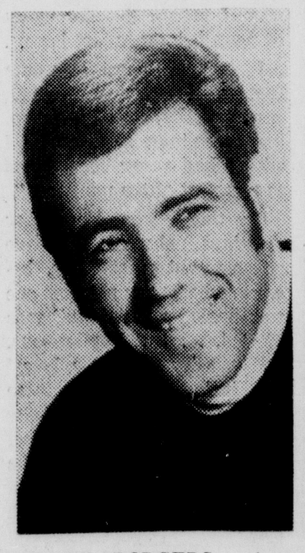
LOS ANGELES — The Goldsmith Piano Quartet will present a free program in the Concerts on the Green seies at Barnsdall Park at 4:30 p.m. July 15.

The group is headed by Fullerton violinist Kenneth Goldsmith.

Other members are John Jensen, piano, Glendale; Terry King, cello, Placentia; Pamela Goldsmith, viola, Silver Lake.

The concert will mark the pubiic debut of the Mirecourt Trio, in residence at Cal State Fullerton. Members are Jensen King and Goldsmith, with Pamela Goldsmith as assisting artist.

In addition to works by Beethoven and Mendelssohn, the quartet will play a contemporary work, Piano Quartet No. 1, by Paul Senia, supervisor of youth choruses for the Bureau of Music of the Los Angeles Municipal Arts Department, which, in cooperation with Musicians Union, Local 47, presents these free concerts.



JIMMIE RODGERS, whose hit records include "Honeycomb" and "The World I Used To Know," will appear July 15-20 in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm. Show times are 8 and 10:0 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 6:30, 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. Friday and Sunday.

Young executives on the way up are closer to God, AMA poll shows

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

When God outpolls Mammon in a survey of business executives, that's news.

At least, the American Management Association seems to think so. It has just compiled responses from 2,821 American businessmen who have attended one of its famous management courses.

Corporations send to these courses their brightest, most promising young executives — men on the way up. This probably is about as success-oriented a group as you could find in America.

But the survey findings strongly indicate, the AMA notes, that "the American idea of success is changing." And one of the most striking changes is "a greater tendency to hold religious values in general in higher esteem and to select the progressive perfection of religious faith as a primary life objective."

The AMA found particularly significant replies to a question in which businessmen were asked to define their "basic goals."

To the evident surprise of the survey conductors, the desire for deeper and more mature religious faith outranked "the traditional goal of acquiring wealth." The choice of God over Mammon was especially marked among younger respondents, under age 30.

Before Billy Graham goes into a huck and wing, it should be noted that the survey results do not quite add up to a revelation that the millenium has arrived in the counting house.

Although religious faith outranked acquisition of wealth among the basic goals of businessmen it was a matter of their finishing fifth and sixth respectively.

The first goal of the executives surveyed, by a long margin, was "a happy home life." That was followed, in order, by "continued good health," "job and financial security," and "occupational status authority."

A cynic might argue that many respondents felt they had adequately covered the subject of money in goal number three —"financial security" —and therefore could afford to downgrade the rather crass sounding goal, "acquisition of wealth."

Be that as it may, it does seem clear from the survey that merely making money has become one of the lesser drives of the American businessmen.

In reply to another question, in which they were asked to define their personal concept of success, only 17 per cent gave answers oriented toward greater material reward or career advancement.

Forty nine per cent defined success in terms of goals "meaningful" work and the satisfaction of feeling they are accomplishing something worthwhile.

Thirty four per cent defined success in terms of gials such as personal fulfillment, community service or a deeper religious commitment that have no direct relationship with career advancement or bigger salaries.

Babbitt may not be entirely converted yet. But he seems to be listening to the invitation hymn.

Brethren's new pastor in pulpit

POMONA — The Rev. Fred Gantz is the new pastor of the Church of the Brethren here. He will preach Sunday at the 9:30 a.m. worship service on the topic "Tell the Story, Liberate the Word."

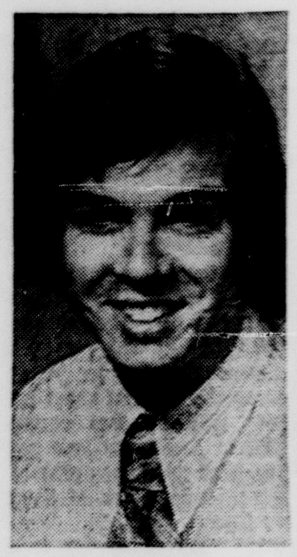
Mr. Gantz was ordained June 10 of this year and this will be his first assignment as pastor.

He is a native of Mount Joy, Pa., and grew up in that area. He is a graduate of Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa., and Bethany Seminary near Chicago, Ill.

He served a summer assignment as assistant pastor at the Church of the Brethren in Everett, Pa., and two years as minister to youth at the First United Methodist Church in Westmont, Ill.

The new pastor was installed at ceremonies June 24 at the church. He and his wife, Marjorie and son, Kenneth, 4, will make their home in Pomona.

Mr. Gantz said plans to develop a strong program for youth and young married groups at the church as his first project as minister. The congregational presently has a membership of 225 persons.



REV. FRED GANTZ

Kathryn Kuhlman: not faith healer

Is Kathryn Kuhlman a faith healer?

No, she emphatically told Christianity Today in an exclusive interview appearing in the magazine's July 20 issue.

"I resent very much being called a faith healer because I am not the healer," she says in answer to one of forty-seven questions posed by editors of the interdenominational fortnightly magazine. "I have no healing virtue." "I have no healing power. I have never healed anyone. I am absolutely dependent upon the power of the Holy Spirit."

Miss Kuhlman, probably the world's best known woman preacher, has ministered to thousands from her Pittsburgh base and perhaps millions via her weekly television program.

In an introduction to the article, Christianity Today said: "To many, however, Miss Kuhlman remains something of a mystery. Some who try to understand her cannot. Many others who could will not—until they are stricken with illness and given up by medical science."

The wide-ranging interview covers Miss Kuhlman's beliefs on illness, healing, women's lib, speaking in tongues, the Jesus movement, miracles, abortion, and drugs.

Miss Kuhlman says that she is a Baptist although she was ordained into a group known as the Evangelical Church Alliance. Of her call to the ministry she says it was quite emphatic. "If everybody in the world told me that as a woman I have no right to preach the Gospel, it would have no effect upon me whatsoever because my call to the ministry was as definite as my conversion."

Of women preachers, she says, "I wouldn't wish this job on any woman, I'll tell you that. If you think it's easy, try it. This is really a man's job. I work hard, 17 hours a day."

On one question seeking her understanding of the apparent desire of Jesus and the disciples not to publicize certain healings, Miss Kuhlman answered simply, "I don't know what was in the mind of Jesus. One day I'll ask him and I'll let you know."

Some of Miss Kuhlman's comments:

On her healing ministry: "Helping people is the most rewarding thing in the world. When I walk out on the platform and I realize that sitting there in the audience are people who have made a great sacrifice to come and when I realize that for many of them it is their last hope. . . that is the most awesome feeling. It is not a thrilling responsibility, but awesome, and sometimes so awesome I wish I had never been called to this part of the ministry."

On those who leave her meetings unhealed: "I have no comment whatsoever, because whether or not that one was healed was in the hands of God. . . But I'm humans, and you'll never know how I hurt inside when I see those who came in wheelchairs being pushed into the street again. You'll never know the ache, the suffering I feel, but the answer I must leave with God."

Brethren delegates favor policy of amnesty over war

FRESNO —A statement favoring "unconditional amnesty for all who, due to an act of conscience, are alienated because of war" has been adopted by Church of the Brethren annual conference delegates.

Brought to the conference by the general board, the paper was accepted as an answer to queries received this year from the Illinois-Wisconsin district and from the district of Missouri.

Although it called for appropriate action by the President and Congress, the statement was also directed to members of the church, noting that, "Whatever the government does, we must begin working more to bring reconciliation between those who have become separated because of their views on war."

Specifically, members and congregations were asked to provide a "supportive community" for persons alienated from their families or local communities. The general board was urged to provide programs and resources to help congregations in this task.

In offering the statement, board representatives emphasized that it made no distinction between those who participated in and those who opposed the Vietnam War, but rather urged the forgetting of past differences and the need for reconciliation.

The statement defined amnesty in terms of reconciliation and as an act of "forgetting." Biblical authority was cited to indicate that Christians are called to "a ministry of reconciliation."

But the statement also asserted that "through amnesty, a government can forget the legal penalties connected with the actions of a group of persons and thereby declare that the unity of its people is more important than continued hostility or division."

Proponents of unconditional amnesty emphasized that the statement called for steps to be taken legally and did not propose to do away with law.

The chief item of debate on the issue centered on an attempt to strike out the word "unconditional" and to propose the condition that persons desiring amnesty be required to serve two years in some kind of alternative or voluntary service.

Supporters of this view argued that this was the view of the congregations they represented and that it was consistent with provisions already in effect for alternative service. Only one speaker expressed total opposition to any kind of amnesty.

A delegate from Illinois asked the deliberative body, "Where is your patriotism? This is the U.S.A." In response a speaker from Maryland observed, "Yes, we are the greatest bombing nation in the world. Let's be careful we spell it U.S.A. It is not spelled GOD."

Thoughts

From the Living Bible

"We will die," Manoah cried out to his wife, "for we have seen God!" But his wife said, "If the Lord were going to kill us he wouldn't have accepted our burnt offerings and wouldn't have appeared to us and told us this wonderful thing and done these miracles." When her son was born they named him Samson, and the Lord blessed him as he grew up. And the Spirit of the Lord began to excite him whenever he visited the parade grounds of the army of the tribe of Dan. — Judges 13:22-25

Auto sales set pace in California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The auto industry was a major factor in an 11 per cent increase in taxable retail sales in California between the first quarters of 1972 and 1973, the state Finance Department says.

The department report Thursday said new car dealers recorded a 22.3 per cent rise in dollar value of sales, slightly higher than the 20.4 per cent gain estimated for the entire United States.

The report also noted that new car registrations were up by 25.7 per cent in the first quarter.

"This suggests that consumers may be shifting to less expensive or smaller models, as price increases during the past year would normally have led to an increase in dollar value of sales greater than the number of units sold," the report said.

Electronics cuts truck hijacking

SECAUCUS, N.J. (UPI)— Installation of electronic security systems can pay off with more than prevention of hijacking, says one of the nation's leading truckers.

Outfitting his 500 trucks with such equipment, linked to an electronic control panel at the cmpany's headquarters here, has virtually eliminated hijacking attempts in the past year, reports William A. Nelson Resource Corporation. As a bonus, he says, new system is the major factor in reduction of the firm's cargo insurance costs by over 60 per cent. It was developed by a subsidiary, Design Controls, Inc. of Westbury, N. Y.

Musicians take a holiday

Just doing what comes naturally

CLAREMONT — For some 20 nationally and internationally prominent classicial musicians, the Claremont Music Festival, which opened Friday night, is a busman's holiday.

The pianists, violinists, horn and percussion artists are spending the month doing what they do best — rehearsing together, teaching and performing.

For the 55 student musicians from 21 states and six foreign countries, the festival is a rare opportunity to study and perform with leading professional artists. The rewarding program goes a long way to launching the musicians on careers of their own.

The festival was organized in 1969 by Vienna born Giora Bernstein, a Pomona College faculty member and former conductor of the Boston Chamber Orchestra. Bernstein, a violinist as well as music director, is a former member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and music director of the Boston Chamber Music Society.

Since the first summer, the festival has grown steadily in the number of students and the size of the faculty and has established itself as an important musical program. Because of its increased prestige and the popularity of its concerts, the festival this year will offer an expanded program of 18 symphonic and chamber concerts, as well as numerous recitals and ensemble performances.

The latter presentations are informal in nature and are offered free on Monday nights, beginning July 16. Wednesday nights are devoted to chamber music and Friday nights to the full 60-piece festival orchestra, conducted by Bernstein. Two Saturday night programs are scheduled for July 18 and Aug. 4. On three Sundays, July 15, 22 and 29, faculty members will offer benefit concerts for the festival scholarship fund.

July 25-28 has been designated American Music Week at the festival when four concerts will be devoted to compositions by American composers, including those of Gail Kubik, composer-in-residence at Scripps College, and of Karl Kohn, professor of music at Pomona College.

Tickets can be purchased to any of the series — chamber, symphonic, or American. Tickets to individual concerts are also on sale, but Bernstein noted that several hun-

Girl Scout background makes her feel useful

By PAUL HILL
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Except for the very narrow asphalt drive, any evidence of the one-story brick house in the lemon grove off E. Base Line Road would be hidden even from the eye of an alert passerby.

The house in the private, picturesque setting is that of Mrs. Paula Pitzer, a would-be ambassador turned housewife, and just recently elected president of the Los Angeles Council of Auxiliaries of the Children's Home Society.

"I guess I have that old Girl Scout background that makes me feel like I must be doing something useful," Mrs. Pitzer said this week. "Many of my friends are also involved. The work is fun, and I enjoy many of the things the CHS does."

She pondered the idea for a moment, and then added, "It's my way of feeling useful. I wouldn't like to belong to a club that wasn't active or useful".

The Children's Home Society is a private agency providing counseling services for girls with unplanned pregnancy, single parents and couples wishing to adopt a child. It also concerns itself with legislation affecting children. The auxiliaries provide funds and volunteer services for the agency. Almost one-third of the society's funds come from the auxiliaries.

Although she serves as president of the 27 auxiliaries in the Los Angeles area, Mrs. Pitzer devotes most of her time to the Claremont chapter, of which she is past president and bazaar chairman. And much of that time is spent speaking before church groups, women's clubs, coordinating councils, service clubs and high school classes.

One of her main topics is the unwanted pregnancy. Aided by a 30-minute film entitled "I'm 17 and Pregnant," Mrs. Pitzer informs teen-agers and parents alike of the options open to the youngsters if they find themselves in this kind of situation.

"This is one area which teen-agers want to search out," she said. "Boys today are fairly comfortable about this topic. Of course, adults are always concerned about teen-agers who become pregnant."

Despite the seemingly busy schedule, charity work is not her No. 1 priority.

"I only spend as much time with the auxiliary as I have left over after taking care of our two children," she explained. "I always have to come back and be the housewife."

Mrs. Pitzer, an attractive, Upland-born graduate of Claremont Graduate School, appears content in her role as a housewife and mother.

"Being married is very liberating for me. I have had the chance to be a career woman and the chance to travel. I'm married now, have an income, and I can decide what I'm going to do with my own time," she said.

Mrs. Pitzer, who received her B.A. in international relations from Pomona College at a time when she considered "being an ambassador or something like that," plans a return to the classroom in the future as a history teacher.

"I am fascinated by people. I enjoy reading historical biographies and economic history." she said. "Teaching history is explaining why people and nations do what they do."

Mrs. Pitzer resides with her husband John, a sales manager for General Mills, and their children Kurt, 7, and Shelly, 3, at 404 E. Base Line Road.

The clothes were self-destructing

Dear Walt: I bought $47 worth of clothing at this store. Within a week the seam pulled out of one pant leg and holes opened up in the t-shirt. I wanted to bring everything back (two shirts and another pair of pants), but the store wouldn't allow it. Now the replacement pants I got have also pulled out at the seam. Is there a way I can make them give me all my money back now? — Stan.

Dear Stan: I doubt it. But you might enlist the aid of your most formidable relations to come along and state your family's displeasure to store management. At the risk of making a sexest statement, I'll admit that I've always found my female relations better at getting refunds than male kin.

At the very least your relative can give you able counsel in checking the seam allowance of the next pair of pants you pick. Even to a greenie it's clear that the manufacturer economized excessively in allocating fabric for the seams. Added hint: You might want to buy a size larger, and have the waist taken in. Your thighs may be bulkier than the average. — Walt

Dear Ele: I went swimming nude with some friends and someone took a picture of us. I have reason to believe that several copies of the picture are cirdulating about because of certain comments that have been made to me. I am not ashamed, but I am mad to have people I trusted do something like this. Do you think I should tell my boyfriend about this myself, before he hears about it from someone else? — Sue

Dear Sue: I think it would be a good idea to let your version of the story be the first he hears. He'll probably want to know: (1) Who was there, especially the males: (2) What lead up to the disrobing — booze, passion or hijinks? (3) What happened after the picture was taken? (4) Why you didn't tell him about this earlier? Without rehearsing, I think you'd be wise to review your thoughts before launching a discussion with him. — Ele

Dear Ele and Walt: I have about $300 in the bank. I earned it myself in the eighth grade when I was a paper boy. But the account is set up so that I can't make any withdrawals without my mother or father's signature and permisssion. I am a senior now and don't want to spend the money but think I ought to be at least in control of it. What should I do? — Henry

Dear Henry: Go to the bank and request the appropriate form that will alter the account from its present minor-guardian format to one that grants you sole control of your own cash. Then wait to produce the signature form until your parents are feeling good about your stability and maturity.

If possible, it would be great public relations to have $10 saved up that you intend to deposit in the account as soon as you had complete control over it. — Walt.

Among the most ingenicus people in television are those who create the commercials. It takes something extra to rivet our attention on the tube when we really want to go to the bathroom. Some commercials are so entertaining that we enjoy them more than the program they interrupt.

Ad men go to all kinds of trouble to create the best impression for us. When you see one of those "hidden camera" commercials where people give spontaneous, unrehearsed and complimentary testimony about the sponsor's product, it's quite likely that dozens, even hundreds, of subjects were put on tape before they found one with the glowing endorsement they want you to hear.

You'll get a glowing endorsement of our new RCA color TV sets from everyone who has one. When you buy from us, your set is installed and adjusted by a skilled technician, not a delivery boy. Remember, we back our sales with SERVICE!

The Leitcher Mint ingot

By MORT REED

Following the removal of silver from our circulating currency in the mid-'60s, public consumption of the precious metal became increasingly noticeable. Especially in the numismatic industry. With the unrestricted availability of silver, "private mints" cropped up all over the country. At one time over 30 different firms incorporated the term MINT in their company name.

Today that number has decreased considerably but there are still a few without so much as a vault in which to store their products. Their minting facilities are limited to their letterheads.

Fortunately, some of the more reliable minting houses are among those doing the most for collectors and dealers in ingots and medals. The lunch-bucket operators are fast falling by the wayside and I doubt that there will be more than five "mints" in existence by the end of 1974.

The pressure is too great. Either they produce a good logical collectors item or they continue to produce junk and suffer the consequences. In a majority of cases most of the medals and ingots offered today are nothing more than junk.

One of the top five private mints in the country is the Leitcher Mint of Lancaster, Calif. Here the first "two-color" medal was created with a 24-karat gold image fused with a .999 pure silver medal. The Paul Revere Medal.

Their second two-color innovation came with the Minerva Thirty-five dollar coin in which the helmeted head of Minerva was of 24-karat pure gold in a solid silver medal.

Both pieces were widely accepted for their originality of thought and are very popular throughout the coin and medal collecting world.

The latest idea to emerge from the Leitcher Mint drawing board is the round coin-ingot, weighing one Troy ounce with reeded edge and a frosted eagle device superimposed on a mirror finish surface.

Up until now ingots have been more or less confined to a "bar" or "loaf" configuration with its seal and Troy ounce weight crudely stamped on the top surface.

One to three ounce ingots in the bar shape have been cast and-or struck with pictorial surfaces depicting some well-known historical scene or the profile of a famous person, but these pieces sell for much more than their intrinsic values and as an investment commodity they lack potential.

The Leitcher coin-ingot on the other hand, is intended for just that purpose. Investment. It makes an ideal personal gift that can only increase in value over the years.

Because of this unusual value increasing phenomenon, banks deem it a logical giveaway for new accounts and deposits, and employers find it the perfect "bonus" for job suggestions and employe performance.

While I am sure these ingots may be secured in lesser quantities, the information available at this time indicates 1,000 pieces would cost 75 cents apiece over the days' spot price of silver; 10,000 would run approximately 45 cents over the spot price of .999 fine silver on the day of purchase, and 50,000 would cost 27 cents over the spot price of silver.

Interested readers may write the Leitcher Mint, P.O. Box 107, Lancaster, Calif. 93534.

Dandruff treatment for cats

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is dandruff curable in cats? If it is, we're not going about it right because our cat has had a bad case of it for a long time and all the various kinds of goop we use to cure it haven't helped for very long. — C.A.

Dear C.A.: Dandruff in cats usually responds to proper treatment. Whether it will clear up completely, however, depends upon the cause. If the dandruff results from a type of seborrhea, the condition may be controllable cut not curable. I hope the medications you have been trying have at least been OK'd by the doctor. Several skin preparations may be used on a dog with a dandruff condition but could cause dangerous drug reactions if tried on a cat.

DEAR DR. MILLER: A friend of mine who has some great film on beavers building a dam said there is no way to tell the difference between beavers. I mean between the sexes. Why is this? — I.A.

Dear I.A.: Agreed, there is no way you are going to determine this on the film. A double fold of tissue maintains perfect privacy for this personal area. Obviously a cooperating adult beaver would be hard to find, so closer inspection of the area would be difficult. If that were possible, the difference between the male and female on visual inspection would be that the male has four visible openings beneath the tail, the female has five!

Ewart's still alive, well on the Mall

By PAT SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ewart's Store for Men at 195 Pomona Mall West just won't go out of business.

And owners Bob Ewart, and son, David, are happy to be back in full-time operation after the confusing events of the last six months.

The Ewarts had been doggedly trying to close out the store since last November when they were notified that a hotel was to be built on the store's location beginning in January.

The news prompted a going-out-of-business sale of epic proportions. If it wasn't the longest sale in the history of the clothing business, it certainly was the longest in the store's 65-year run. It ran nearly five months as the hotel development sank into limbo because of financial problems.

Finding themselves still in business despite their best efforts, the Ewarts capitalized on the situation. In May they restocked their store with the same name-brand, high quality suits, slacks, shirts and accessories, but kept the low sale prices.

"Now we're always 'on sale'," says Manger David Ewart, "with savings that range from 20 to 70 per cent Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The "bargain basement" operation may not last indefintely, however. The hotel project may be revived at any time and there is a chance the store may move into new quarters in a shopping center planned for a Garey Avenue location.

But the Ewarts definitely plan to stay in the downtown Pomona area to continue a tradition of professional service that began in 1908 when David's great-grandfather opened up the Hub Clothing and Shoe Co. at 373 W. Second St.

Since then, the store has made a name for itself in the local area and nationwide with clever and innovative sales approaches. The store once offered ice cream cones to match the color of a line of shirts and eliminate worry over "dribbes, spills and spots" by fashion-conscious ice cream fans. In 1957, a free suit went to the first man who showed up wearing a barrel. The gimmick drew crowds as not one but 15 men turned up attired in timber togs.

There's no telling what the Ewart's have up their sartorial sleeve for the future, but it's fair to say the Mall operation is one of the best clothing bargain bets in town.

Ewart's carries a wide variety of fine men's suits, shirts and acc sories.

Author describes California dream

By NICHOLAS POLOS

AMERICANS AND THE CALIFORNIA DREAM, 1850-1915 by Kevin Starr, Oxford University Press, $12.50.

California, "El Dorado of the West," has since the time of Montalvo's classic novel always caught the imagination of man. Roske called California "Everyman's Eden," and Hale and Lessen titled their analysis of the Golden State, "The California Dream."

For centuries California with its quasi-Hispanic overtone was a strong magnet attracting thousands of people. F. Fenton in his "A Place in the Sun" speaking of the California people wrote: "They came, like the people, from far places. . . all wanderers of one sort or another seeking peace or fortune or the last frontier, or a thousand dreams of escape."

Other writers like O. Henry insisted that Californianas were a race of special people, not merely inhabitants of a state.

Robert Frost, born in San Francisco, once argued that California's climate was so special that none had died "there a natural death." What really attracted Americans to California?

Kevin Starr's answer is simple and yet unique. His theme is that California became the 'cutting edge of the American dream' recapitulating in a comparatively brief period of time everything both utopian and dystopian in the life of the nation."

This is a splendid big book worthy of the third largest state in the nation, but it is more than that. It is a kind of golden pageant that moves from the period of the Spanish heritage to the Gold Rush to the Great Exposition, from intellectual history to social and ecological conditions.

Starr begins his historical walk through the El Dorado in 1786 and while presenting California as a kind of American Mediterranean he concludes his intellectual wandering in 1915, where he examines critically the concept of the Americans and the California Dream.

This is the one minor flaw, which does not detract markedly from the book, i.e., that it barely moves into the twentieth century. Starr probes the formative years of California via a series of cultural and biographical studies unlike Carey McWilliam and Franklin Walker who tend to concentrate primarily on the sweep of events in the Golden State.

By skillfully avoiding the romantic myths which surround California history, the author blends historical vision with stark reality and useful metaphors to describe the intrinsic nature of the California dream and its influence as a symbolic integer in American intellectual thought.

The author draws heavily upon a rich diverse gold mine of solid primary materials such as the writings of first and second generation Californians, memoirs, journals, letters, sermons, newspaper reports, and even architectural plans and novels and poetry.

He paints the famous and the infamous with bold strokes and colors so that his narrative becomes a pigment of the reader's imagination which dazzles him.

The tone of the book is dignified, one might say almost elegiacal for Starr is indeed a serious historian, and he seems to be saying like Josiah Royce, the Harvard philosopher (who was born in Grass Valley,) that the California experience was really an American parable "concerning the redemptive quest for loyalty, community and law."

Yet he does not lack a sense of humor, and one will chuckle over his overt analysis that "California, in fact, might become the context of madness," or his description of David Starr Jordan and his Farm as "Life Among the Best and Truest."

On the other hand the real value of this book really lies in the fact that Starr has the courage to portray the negative side of the California quest, the ferment of the state's history brought about by the greed, violence, and the frustrating contradictions inherent in the dream itself.

Starr avoids any morbid moralizing over ecological oversights and concentrates on the brilliant interplay between important cultural events and the philosophical and intellectual ideas of authors, scholars, poets, scientists, and visitors to the Pacific Empire.

His sources are impeccable, and his bibliography is a rich mother lode on California intellectual history. One must admire his choices, especially since he uses several of this writer's manuscripts on educational history. Obviously he is most selective in his documentation!

For those Californians, indeed for any student of American history interested in the embattled American dream which now threatens to become an American nightmare this book is worth the time and the effort.

As Richard Armour put it in his classic poem on California "What California is today the rest of the United States may be tomorrow."

Woman lists better ways to love life

By STAN ROBERTS

HOW TO BE A BETTER LOVER . . . LONGER by Debbie Drake. Prentice-Hall, $5.95.

Miss Drake, a trim blonde author and television personality who has done quite well in the past giving advice on how to stay slim and healthy, has lightly turned her attention on a much more sensitive topic this time.

Drawing on an informal study she says she began seven years ago, she tells men what to do and what not to do to be a hit with the ladies.

She says much of her information comes from celebrities, football players, professional people and airline stewardesses she has interviewed.

"Let's face it," she explains, "men are sexy creatures, and they turn us on. But I find that most of them don't know how to go about it."

She makes suggestions on what the men should wear, what they should eat, how they should exercise, how they should walk and talk, in order to acquire that look and feeling of sensuality which, according to Miss Drake, attracts her.

She likens her strategy to a football game—you get points as you go along. But there are infractions which can ruin your game.

The book is entertaining although most of what she says is not new or different. Its value lies in showing the men who are interested in improving their love lives how to go about applying what they know to given situations, and in giving a woman's point of view to the game of love and sex.

If you've been having more than your share of trouble in attracting and holding the interest of the "weaker sex" you may find the solution to your problem within these pages.

India's answer to modern living

Peace through serenity

By WILLISTON WIRT

THE IMPOSSIBLE QUESTION by J. Krishnamurti, Harper and Row, $4.95.

Serenity through meditation is India's answer to all who are confused and upset by the frantic pace of modern life. And many persons are convinced that this is the answer to the search for truth.

It is not necessary to journey to the homeland of the Swami for J. Krishnamurti has written extensively about mysticism for the Western inquirer, of which this is his ninth book. It is divided into two sections.

The first consists of seven chapters, each dealing with an aspect of Indian philosophy. For instance, one chapter heading is "analysis," and the definition given is, "Analysis is never complete; the negation of that incomplete action is total action."

Another chapter heading is "Fragmentation" of which the author says, "A problem only arises when life is seen fragmentarily. Do see the beauty of that."

On the other hand the chapter on "Religion" seems to view fragmentation negatively: "Religion is the quality that makes for a life in which there is no fragmentation whatsoever!"

The second section of the book is devoted to dialogues. The questioner is never identified, but one gains the impression that Krishnamurti is here attempting to answer tual questions that have b addressed to him by th who have been drawn to interpretations of life.

Some questions deal w the difficulties of mysti concentration. Some are forts to confront change, as affects the inner life of ma as well as the world arou him.

The most extensive cov rage in the dialogues is t author's diagnosis of fea "Attachment to the past" one aspect of fear, say Krishnamurti. Yet nowhe does one find any definite di cussion of the major cause and effects, such as the We stern mind can rationalize i his analysis of fear.

Thus one is inclined to vie the answer as given in thi book as vague and unsubjec tive, underscoring the vague ness of the book's title.

Says Krishnamurti: "We are always putting the question of what is possible. If you put the impossible question, your mind then has to find the answer in terms of the impossible not of what is possible."

That the impossible is not beyond reach is, of course, the author's main purpose in offering this book for our edification.

Cousteau reports on deep sea exploration

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

OCTOPUS AND SQUID, THE SOFT INTELLIGENCE, by Jacques-Yves Cousteau and Philippe Diole, Doubleday, $9.95.

Come aboard the Calypso for another adventure across the waterways of the world with Cousteau, this time to study the octopus and squid and their strange cousins, the nautilus and the argonaut.

As with Cousteau's previous writings on underwater exploration, this book is fascinating to those interested in marine life.

Enriched with color and black-and-white photographs, this volume is a delight to scan.

For the more serious student, it is interesting, informative and amusing reading.

"The octopus, far from being the aggressive monster so dear to fiction writers and film makers, is a shy, retiring creature," Cousteau writes.

"Octopuses do not lie in wait for divers, or rush out to attack them on sight. They are out of sight, in their holes under the large rocks that we call their houses. And, in order to find the octopuses, one must be able to recognize such houses."

The doctor comments

Calories in a food depend on the water

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — If a person eats two pounds of food, how much of this food turns into energy, and how much of this food becomes waste? Also what is the best natural food a person can take for relief of constipation?

Dear Reader — It's not possible to answer your first question exactly because of the enormous variation in the amount of calories in different types of food. Two pounds of lettuce don't contain very many calories, but two pounds of lard contain over 7,000 calories. Two pounds of lean round steak muscle with all of the external visible fat removed contain about 1,200 calories. It's more than 70 per cent water. Lard contains no water and is all fat.

The calories in a food depend upon its water content, the amount of undigestible fibers or the cellulose and finally the amount of protein, fat and carbohydrate present. There are nine calories per gram of fat and only four calories per gram of carbohydrate and protein (these are approximations). Because these combined variables can influence the number of calories in a pound of food, there isn't any substitute for learning the calories in a given weight or portion of the different common foods.

As far as residue (waste) is concerned, this too depends on the kind of food. Ordinary table sugar has no fiber, cellulose or other such material. In a healthy person it should be completely absorbed, leaving no food residue. Vegetables with a lot of cellulose material in them will leave residue. The same is true of cereal fiber.

Regarding foods for the relief of constipation, the total problem of constipation, irritable or spastic bowel needs to be carefully reviewed by a doctor before you can make any recommendation in a given case. Most often, when the total problem is resolved, for maintenance purposes the best diet is one that includes quite a bit of bulk. This means whole grani cereals, vegetables, including the leafy vegetable variety, which have residue. Various raw fruits and fruit juices often help to improve function as well.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In reference to your article on methods to stop smoking. My wife and I attended a county Department of Health Smoker's Clinic four years ago, and neither of us has smoked since. Frankly, I've never felt better.

I was a "pack-a-day" man for about 25 years, and believe me I was really beginning to feel it. Fortunately, I woke up in time to the seriousness of the situation. Personally, I feel that smoking should be outlawed. It is especially annoying to a nonsmoker when he enters a public place and finds people smoking where they shouldn't. It's also annoying on airplanes and other places where the nonsmoker can't get away from it.

Statistically speaking, children of nonsmokers are generally healthier than those whose parents smoke. More smokers have automobile accidents than nonsmokers. Many more smokers have heart problems, and many people with heart problems who smoke die a lot sooner than the nonsmokers. What about the cost in terms of burnt clothes, furniture, etc. Pass the word along doc. Your response was far too gentle to your reader.

Dear Reader — I have been accused of a lot of things, particularly since I started writing a column for the general public, but never of being "far too gentle." You'd have to get up awfully early in the morning to beat me to first place in line to vote for a bill that would outlaw tobacco in all of its forms.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Blue Mondays were few

What did Pomona housewives do 70 years ago to make certain their dirty clothes would come through the Blue Monday washing ritual bright and shining and squeeky clean?

At first thought you'd suppose that most all of them would have become completely frustrated before their washday tasks were over. The more so since in those days they had no such things as automatic washers and driers — no miracle cleansing detergents to do the dirty work for them.

However, a bit of historical research has uncovered an interesting fact. Despite mechanical and miracle product limitations, wash days in Pomona in the early 1900s usually managed to end up with a large percentage of the laundry turning out whiter white and cleaner clean. And one of the big reasons for such a happy outcome was that, in truth, Pomona's housewives DID have miracle product going for them in those days. What's more, it had a name that sounded almost like some of the popular washday wonders our soap opera pitchmen are so loudly promoting today. It was called, "NEVER-STICK, PURE WHEAT, COLD WATER STARCH."

Cousteau reports on exploration

Cousteau explains that there are a number of accepted plural forms of octopus: octopi, octopus, octopussies and octopuses. "We have adopted the latter form, not necessarily because it is the most correct," he wrote, "but because it is the most usual."

A female octopus, he pointed out, is fertile only once in her lifetime. Eggs are laid following fertilization. Then it is up to the female to protect the eggs and the young.

"She fortifies her house against attack by piling up stones at its door," Costeau wrote in one study.

There are numerous such interesting insights into the "soft intelligences" which Cousteau probes with delicacy.

He concludes his book by writing: "Despite all the progress that we have made in discovering the secrets of the sea, those of the deep still elude us. We cannot be content with brief visits at 10,000 feet and even beyond. We must learn to remain at those depths and to explore large areas, just as we have learned to do on the Continental Shelf. It is, after all, only a question of technology.

"The future may well reveal to us those great and mysterious beings, inoffensive and luminous, at the bottom of the sea. That alone is an expectation that makes life worth living."

Just doing what comes naturally

dred disappointed music lovers were turned away from concerts last year because of seating limitation, and business at the box office this year has been even brisker.

All concerts are held in the n o w-air-conditioned Bridges Hall of Music (Little Bridges) and start at 8:15 p.m.

As in the past, the festival has drawn to its faculty instrumentalists from leading orchestras and ensembles throughout the world. Australian-born Barry Tuckwell is former principal horn with the London Symphony Orchestra; violist Raymond Page was a former member of the Vienna Chamber Orchestra. Clarinetist David Shifrin was soloist with the American Symphony under Stokowski, and Robert Williams is principal bassoonist for the Winnipeg (Canada) Symphony Orchestra.

"Our level of talent and performance is substantially higher than in the past, "Bernstein said. "We have a very fine orchestra and outstanding first chair people."

The festival faculty includes four Pomona College faculty members, in addition to Bernstein. They are violist Phillip Goldberg, a recording artist and member of the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra; Kohn, pianist and composer; pianist Peter Hewitt, who records for Columbia; and Hal Rees, solo timpanist and principal percussionist with the 20th Centry-Fox Recording Orchestra.

Other members of the festival faculty are visiting artists Charles Libove, violin; Leonard Feldman, cello; Betram Turetzky, contrabass; Joanne Zagst, violin; Carol Wincenc, flute; Sara Watkins, oboe; David Kappy, horn; Don Ambroson, violin, Selene Hurford, cello; Nina Lugovoy, piano, and Elwood Peterson, baritone. Also taking part are the Camerata Musicale and the Lincoln "20" Chorale.

The "students" of the festival, usually called "members," are hardly a typical student body. They range from teens to middle age; some are professional musicians, some teachers, and all have appeared with leading orchestras and ensembles. Candidates must have recommendation from prominent musicans and teachers and pass demanding auditions.

The scope of the members and faculty can be illustrated by the Rev. John R. Bodo, cellist, Hungarian-born pastor of the Old First Presbyterian Church of San Francisco, and young Ambroson of Pomona, violinist.

Mr. Bodo, son of a piano teacher, has played the cello all his life and is now a member of the Kensington Trio in the Bay area. He is lured to the Claremont Music Festival by the opportunity to perform a varied and little-heard repertoire with other talented musicans.

"My interest in music has increased the appeal to members of our congregation," he said, adding with a smile, "not that we use music to trap people into coming to church."

Ambroson, a native of Iowa, is a graduate of Morningside College in Sioux City and holds a master's degree from the Claremont Graduate School. He is now working on a doctorate of musical arts at USC. He is the only one who has been with the festival for its five years, first as a student and now as a member of the faculty.

Does he note any changes?

"Each year the participants are more experienced and have broader backgrounds," he said. "There is a higher level of performance than we we started."

The wide range of repertoire, offering adventurous programming of new compositions, has been "an immense help" to him in his work at USC, he said.

And the next five years for the Claremont Music Festival?

Bernstein, happy with the progress of the first five years, said, "We'll go on as long as Pomona College feels it is making a contribution to the community, both artistic and educational."

ON THE COVER—There's music in the air at Pomona College this summer as leading musicians join in the fifth annual Claremont Music Festival. At top, Barry Tuckwell, horn professor at London's Royal Academy of Music, conducts a wind quintet, and, middle, Donald Ambroson of Pomona, directs a string ensemble. At bottom is Giora Bernstein, founder-director of the Festival.

A new way to decorate your home -- fancy free

Fancy free. That's how a woman would like to be when she decorates her home.

But the bold patterns and bright colors so prevalent among today's home furnishings must sometimes give her the feeling that she's dragging a ball and chain as she struggles to create a successful decorating scheme without clashing elements.

One major manufacturer of home furnishings recognizes this problem and is taking steps to solve it. Armstrong recently brought out what it calls the Indoor World Collection of wallcoverings and fabrics to simplify decorating with its line of Fancy Free cushioned vinyl floors.

These floors are styled with lively patterns in a bountiful array of colors. Fitting them into a decorating scheme could be tricky without some guidance. That's where the Indoor World Collection comes in.

The wallcoverings and fabrics (for curtains, slipcovers, etc.) are available in solid tones and multi-colored stripes that coordinate with Fancy Free floors, as well as in matching materials that duplicate the floor patterns.

Samples of the floors, wallcoverings and fabrics have been gathered into a decorating binder which can be seen in Armstrong Floor Fashion Center stores nationwide. By placing a large sample of any one of the floor patterns into a special spot in the binder, and referring to a chart which indicates compatible wallcoverings and fabrics the shopper can compare many combinations.

This gives her a large number of possibilities, enabling her to develop a personal decorating plan. Yet she has the assurance that the combination she assembles will be completely in harmony.

Fancy the freedom today's shopper has with this useful decorating tool to guide her.

modern HOME living

The wallcoverings are washable vinyl, and the fabrics have been treated to resist stains.

Altogether, there are 27 wallcoverings and 31 fabrics in the Indoor World Collection. Every one of them matches or coordinates with several of the five Fancy Free floor patterns which come in 15 assorted colorations.

Not too large—or costly

By HIAWATHA ESTES

Neither tremendous size nor high cost are prerequisites for a convenient, comfortable, minimum upkeep home. This is proven in this striking design for a three-bedroom and den home with only 1,456 square feet.

To simplify roof construction and to protect the sliding glass doors from the summer sun, the patio has been completely roofed.

The den, office, or fourth bedroom is accessible to the entry. With a living room such as this, less space is required for halls and you have a view to both the front and rear of the lot. A dining ell is open to the living room. The large sliding glass doors in both the kitchen and living room add a tremendous visual expanse and actual living space to the house with the proper inter-relationship of indoor and outdoor areas.

The corner sink is an added feature of the kitchen. Notice how the door from the nook to the dining ell has been located so as to provide the maximum wall areas in each room.

Both baths have pullman lavatories and showers and are conveniently located to all rooms plus the outside of the house. In addition to the large wardrobe, there is a floor-to-ceiling storage closet in the master bedroom.

The low gable roof is covered with heat reflecting colored rock which will guarantee a cooler home during the hottest summer days. If desired, your contractor can substitute other types of roofing during construction.

Painted concrete blocks are used for the chimney and impressive planter. The front of the home is attractively finished in board-on-board siding. Aluminum windows are used throughout. All combine to give this design a prestige-home look. Plans for a separate double garage are included.

This same exterior is also available with a different three-bedroom floor plan, at a different price structure, and is illustrated in our book, Ranch and Modern Homes.

Complete working drawings for plan 3628 can be purchased for only $11.50 for the first set and $6.30 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until Nov. 8, 1973. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.05. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes — $1.31; Hallmark Homes—$1.31; Home by Hiawatha—$1.31; Prize Homes—$1.31; Town & Country Homes—$1.31; Ranch & Modern Homes—$2.10. All six books—an $8.65 value for only $6.83. Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20 cents per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, Box 404-PO Northridge, Calif. 91324.

Buying house this summer? check heater

Most families that plan to move do their house-hunting during the summer months. Besides the features of a house itself, they check into such factors as the availability of schools, shopping centers and other things necessary to the daily convenience of the whole family.

One important factor that sometimes is neglected when a home is under consideration is the heating system, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. That's because the weather is warm and the system is shut down. Everyone sees the heating system but they don't know how well it functions. Then, when the heating season opens, they sometimes find the system to be inadequate, especially in older homes. There may be drafts or cold spots.

Having a heating contractor check out the system of a home you're seriously thinking of buying is a good investment, the bureau notes. Not only the family's comfort but also its health depends upon the heating system's quality.

Hydronic heat, which uses water as the heating medium, is a quality type. It's efficient, clean, quiet and draft-free. Water is piped from a boiler to radiation, a popular type being baseboard. The boiler can be fired by oil, gas or electricity, depending upon ytur own preference.

Boats are in great demand. If you have given up boating, sell it fast with a low cost want ad. Call 622-1201.
